

Airport Blueprint Accepted

Master Plan Drawn By Aviation Chief Of State Resources, Development Div.

The Sedalia Municipal Airport Board has approved a new master plan for the local airport drafted at their request by Dale H. Fearn, chief of the aviation section of the Missouri Resources and Development Division. The board hopes for the master plan to be approved by the Civil Aeronautics Administration so their plans for future improvement of the airport can be started as soon as possible.

Since the construction of the airport east of Sedalia on Highway 50, complaints have been numerous by pilots, not only local, but transient, who have landed on the paved strip. There apparently is a cross wind which makes it difficult for safe landings at all times.

Although Sedalia has enjoyed almost a clean record on accidents on the field, the board has been making a study and had the Missouri Resources and Development engineers study the field for future expansion and for better flying conditions, the purpose also being to encourage some airline to add Sedalia to its stops.

According to the new plan, the present strip would be used as a secondary landing strip, while the main landing strip will be almost due north and south to correct the wind conditions of the field.

Although the plans had to be changed extensively, they make for a more modern and convenient flying field, both for civilian flying locally, but also for any proposed airline which may desire to use the field for its stops.

Before any extensive action can be taken, however, the plan must first be approved by the district and regional offices of the CAA. (Please turn to Page 10, Col. 6)

Blair Reports No 'Mad Rush' To Retirement

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Gov. James T. Blair reported today state employees have shown "no mad rush to retire" under the new state retirement system.

Employees started contributing 4 per cent of their salaries this month and the first employees to retire on a voluntary basis will be allowed to do so on Oct. 1—next Tuesday.

So far only four employees have officially requested retirement but the state comptroller's office said about 50 others have asked their department heads about quitting.

A study of the 12,810 employees who have signed their membership forms shows that 1,326 are 65 or over and of these, 521 are 70 or over. That makes about 10 per cent of the employees over 65 and about 4 per cent over 70.

The 1957 Legislature adjourned without appropriating any money for the state share of the pension fund so retirement will be on a voluntary basis until the Legislature puts the program into full operation with an appropriation next year.

After that, 65 will be the retirement age except in special cases and at 70 retirement will be mandatory.

Probers Order Further Check Into Payoffs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate rackets probes today directed further investigation into a surprise report of payoffs to Teamster boss James R. Hoffa by Detroit restaurant owners.

The report was laid before the committee by John Leyhan, Detroit restaurant man, who said he overheard it in snatches of conversation at a noisy dinner given in Detroit's Latin Quarter.

"We are going to follow it up," committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy told reporters. "We want more information."

"The Teamsters Union can make or break a restaurant strike."

Leyhan said the discussion he overheard mentioned payments of about $1,500 every six months to Hoffa, now top-running candidate for election as president of the giant Teamsters Union at next week's union convention in Miami.

His story was tossed into the hearing after a long closed door conference with committee members at which he volunteered to tell of the incident because, he said, "you've been doing a good job."

But there were prompt denials of Leyhan's story by the two men he said were involved—Ted Karsten, president of the Detroit Restaurant Guild, and Karsten's brother-in-law, Garrett L. Reading. The guild is an organization of restaurant operators formed to negotiate with labor unions.

E. W. Thompson Plans Sales, Service Building on Broadway

The E. W. Thompson Edsel Sales, Fifth and Osage, will move to new quarters about the first of the year according to E. W. Thompson, the owner. The new home of the motor company will be at Broadway and Warren and will be ultra-modern in construction and in accommodations for garages.

Work has already started on clearing debris from the lot. The house, formerly occupied by Judge and Mrs. Pat Warren, was razed several years ago. Trees which had begun to rot and some which were not outstanding in beauty have been bulldozed away, but in the front center of the lot still stands a beautiful elm tree which will go along with the planned landscaping of the property.

No plans have been drafted for the building as yet. These will be started in a few days as soon as various measurements of the proposed building can be made. The plans may possibly include an ad-

Iraqi Premier Goes To Syria As King Saud Tries Patch-Up

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Premier Ali Jawdat of Iraq arrived in Damascus today in a dramatic demonstration of all out efforts by King Saud of Saudi Arabia to patch up Arab world differences.

It is the first visit of any Iraqi premier to Syria since the establishment of the Baghdad Pact, which tended to isolate the Iraqi regime from other Middle East Arab nations.

Iraq, like neighboring Jordan ruled by the Hashemite family, has long been feuding with the current Syrian regime.

Premier Jawdat entered Syria from Lebanon by automobile after a trip to Beirut from Istanbul and received an apparently cordial official welcome.

King Saud, who flew in yesterday, apparently strongly urged Syria to invite Iraq to participate in the talks, which he seems to hope will prevent the Mideast situation from becoming a dangerous crisis.

The wealthy monarch, a friend of the United States, scheduled meetings today with President Shukri Kuwaty and other Syrian leaders.

Syria has attached great importance to the three-day visit of the King. This was shown by an impressive welcome at Damascus Airport.

Legislators Delay Giving Strife Cause

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A special legislative committee last night delayed at least until next week any decision on the cause of strife among administrative employees of Missouri's big prison here.

The arguments of both sides were pretty well outlined in four days of hearings but several committee members said they had not reached any individual opinions as to where the fault lay.

Col. James D. Carter, director of corrections, blamed the ego of Warden E. V. Nash. He said Nash had been disloyal on several occasions. Carter said also there was a "gang" of embittered older employees who had caused trouble for three directors.

Nash blamed Carter who, he said, interfered in prison administration and caused a confusion of orders.

Others of the 40-odd witnesses blamed:

Lack of clear cut orders or orders from one officer countermanding those of another officer.

Quicker promotion and better pay for younger guards while more experienced men were left behind.

Bitterness between individual employees plus overlapping authority.

Chamber Lets Contract For Clearing of Site

A contract was let Wednesday by the Chamber of Commerce to the Fischer and Fischer Excavating Contractors for the removal of the dwelling, out-buildings and barn at the north end of the Industrial Park area and the tearing down of the buildings started Thursday morning.

It is expected that the buildings will be completely removed in approximately one week for the purpose of getting site ready for the new building of the Precision Engineering Co.

Change Due

There is supposed to be cooler weather on the way, and some clouds have been accumulating. Maybe the sunny smile of Autumn is fading.

Negros Back Amid Silence

Are Convoyed by Troops But No Spectators Appear

LITTLE ROCK, Ark (AP)—The "Little Rock nine," six Negro girls and three boys, returned to Central High School in a guarded army convoy again today, passed through a line of bristling bayonets, and went inside under the eyes of hundreds of white students, watching in silence.

"Boo," shouted one boy. He sounded half-hearted.

That was the only sound that broke the stillness. There were no crowds today, hardly a cluster of bystanders. Paratroopers from the 101st Airborne Division—on guard by order of President Eisenhower—manned stations again around the big, gracefully proportioned school.

But they had little to do. They picked up a man police identified as 2nd Lt. Sidney Wolff, attached to Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex. They said he was carrying a .38 revolver holster and had a 30-30 rifle in the trunk of his car. He had parked a quarter-block from the school.

Earlier, they escorted a white girl, who was weeping bitterly, from the school to a parked automobile. "She's just tired and wants to go home," said a male student with her. "Leave her. 'Leave us alone.'"

Superintendent of Schools Virgil Blossom said attendance at Central High rose to 1,350 today—100 more than yesterday. He said enrollment increased at the other two Little Rock high schools as well.

"I think we will let the figures speak for themselves," he said. "They speak louder than anything we could say."

Maximum enrollment at Central High is 2,000.

Outposts, each manned by two paratroopers, were set up, one block from the school, at each end of the streets leading to Central High.

At one of them, the two soldiers moved off station momentarily to buy sandwiches from a passing vendor.

Today, the nine Negroes were brought to school promptly at 8:45 when classes began. Yesterday, the authorities waited until 9:20, giving classes a chance to start.

They rode again in the Army station wagon with a jeep in front and another following. An officer and three soldiers were in each jeep.

The girls bounced out of the station wagon, smiling gaily. The boys showed no expression.

They went up the long stairs at the front entrance with two paratroopers leading and two behind.

Meeting Held On Liquor Control Here

Care Is Emphasized In Sales to Minors; Law to be Enforced

Prevention of the sale of intoxicating beverages to minors in Johnson and Pettis counties was a discussion topic at a meeting of representatives of the Missouri Division of the United Brewers Foundation, the State Liquor Control Board, enforcement officers, and officers of Whiteman Air Force Base with area wholesalers and retailers in Bothwell Hotel Wednesday night.

Stressed was the need for sellers of intoxicants to exercise the greatest care in sales to minors by insisting on proof of age through identification cards or drivers' licenses. There was a round table discussion of the devious means minors use to obtain alcoholic drinks.

There was evident indication of a spirit of cooperation among those attending to control a condition which could get out of hand by carelessness and neglect.

Prosecuting Attorney Harold Barrick of Pettis County and Hollis Ketchum, Supervisor of Liquor Control, Jefferson City, were in agreement that the laws relating to sale of intoxicants to minors, or permitting rowdiness on the premises would be strictly enforced.

They pointed out that the license to sell intoxicants was a privileged one and the burden of protecting this right by law rests on the bonded licensee. Barrick suggested, too, that although the law does not prohibit the employment of minors in places where 3.2 beer is sold that, nevertheless, such a practice by licensees invited infractions of the (Please turn to Page 10, Col. 6)

Ike Takes Look At Atomic Sub, May Take Ride

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—President Eisenhower got a long-range look today at the atomic submarine Seawolf. And he arranged to go aboard the vessel for lunch—and perhaps take an undersea ride.

The Seawolf, just back from a month's maneuvers in the North Atlantic, anchored during the night at Narragansett Bay about a mile off Coaster's Harbor Island where the President's vacation headquarters is located.

The vessel—built at an estimated cost of $32,700,000 exclusive of its atomic reactor plant—is en route to its home base at Groton, Conn. It is the second of two U.S. atomic subs already in commission. The first was the Nautilus.

When Eisenhower walked this morning from his vacation residence at the U. S. Naval Base to his temporary office, his naval aide, Capt. E. P. Aurand, called his attention to the Seawolf riding at anchor in the bay.

The President whipped out his glasses and took a long look at the vessel. The Seawolf, its builders say, is able to cruise 80,000 miles without refueling.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, later announced that Eisenhower would go aboard the Seawolf for lunch. He arranged to board the sub on the way back from a round of golf with Henry Ford II at the Newport Country Club.

Cooler Weather Seen For Most of State

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Missouri is in the path of cooler weather. Expected to hit the northern edge of the state tonight is the front of a cold air mass which dropped temperatures into the 20s this morning in North Dakota and Minnesota.

A low of 40 is expected tonight in the extreme north. Friday's highs are forecast to range between 60 in the extreme north to 65-75 in the south.

Highest readings in the state yesterday were 83s at Farmington and St. Louis and 82s at Kirksville and Malden.

Miss Joan Lang Becomes Bride Of C. Kammerich

Miss Joan Margaret Lang, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe F. Lang, Booneville, became the bride of Curtis Robert Kammerich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Amanda Kammerich, Pilot Grove, Tuesday morning at St. Martin's Catholic Church at St. Martins. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Jerome Jaworski. Garden flowers decorated the altar.

Mrs. Gerald Larm, cousin of the bride, played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Mrs. Herman Horst, Booneville, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white tulle with tight fitting bodice covered with silver metallic webbing. The V neckline was outlined by a narrow collar and the voluminous skirt of tulle was worn over hoops. Her mitts and headband which held a short veil, were made of metallic web. She carried a white prayer book adorned with white carnations and mums. The prayer book was carried by her mother on her wedding day and she also carried a handkerchief, carried by her mother and maternal grandmother.

Mrs. Arthur Twenter Jr. was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a princess style street length dress of blue faille fashioned like the bride's. Her blue shirred bandeau was covered with seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white mums.

Bridesmaids were Miss Martha Jean Kammerich and Miss Ruth Ann Kammerich, Syracuse. Their dresses of rose sunset faille were identical in design to that worn by the matron of honor. They also carried white mums.

Karen Elaine Lang, sister of the bride, was flower girl. She was dressed in blue faille and carried a basket of white mums.

Terry Lang, brother of the bride, carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Arthur Twenter Jr. was best man. Groomsmen were Robert Kraus and Lee Twenter, Edwin Kammerich and Earl Kammerich, brothers of the bridegroom. Francis Lang, Key West, Fla., brother of the bride, and Leonard Gerke, Tipton, ushered.

Leonard Lang Jr. and Jerry Gerling, cousins of the bride, were mass ushers.

The bride's mother wore a gray dress, black accessories and white carnation corsage. The groom's mother chose a navy blue dress, black accessories and corsage of white carnations.

The wedding dinner was served to 60 guests at the Rod and Gun Club. The three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a bridal couple, flanked with tapers in crystal candelabra, centered the bride's table. Arrangements of roses in crystal vases were also used.

Miss Mary Ann Kammerich, sister of the groom, had charge of the guest book.

The bride chose a navy blue dress, white accessories and white carnation corsage for her going away costume.

The bride is a 1957 graduate of SS Peter and Paul High School and the bridegroom is employed with Earl Hayes in Pilot Grove.

They are residing on a farm west of Pilot Grove.

ABWA Has Annual Tea

American Association of Business Women held its fall tea Sunday from 2 until 5 at the home of Mrs. Maxine Russell, 668 East 17th.

The table was covered with a light green lace cloth adorned with yellow satin roses. Yellow and white carnations and yellow candles formed the centerpiece. Recorded music was softly played during the afternoon.

A panel discussion was given on "Beginning of ABWA" by Mrs. Opal Self, "Education Aims of ABWA" by Margaret Bohon and "Local and National Benefits of ABWA" by Nathalia Poynter. Mrs. E-elyn Rabourn led the panel.

Points brought out were: ABWA was brought into existence because women in business felt the need of a national organization. The aim of ABWA is to increase the efficiency of women in success, happiness and earning ability. It has 9,000 members in 150 chapters in 43 states and is only seven years old. The educational program is cultural and educational. Material benefits are new friends, new contacts and fellowship with women from many occupations.

Guests were: Miss Mary Beth Kesterson with Nathalie Poynter, Miss Betty Chance for with Margaret Bohon, Mrs. Freda Napier with Mary Alice Snider and Miss Ruth Wolftrum with Miss Gwin Tuck.

The tea committee was composed of Mrs. Mary Alice Snider, chairman, Miss Gwin Tuck, Mrs. Carolyn Greer, Mrs. Maxine Russell and Mrs. Mary Maddox.

Miss O'Brian Gives Service Guild Lesson

About 30 members and three guests attended the monthly meeting of the Wesleyan Service Guild of the First M. E. Church at the home of Mrs. Alma Hausam, 501 Dal-Whi-Mo Tuesday evening, Sept. 17.

Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Ben Moore and Lillian Mais. After refreshments were served the business meeting was opened by Mrs. Lucille Shy, president, with devotion by Mrs. Mary Maddox.

The lesson was presented by Miss Opal O'Brian, her topic being, "The March of Missions" which was illustrated with a map of the world showing the progress being made by the missionaries in many parts of the universe.

The hymn, "We've a Story to Tell to the Nations," was led by Mrs. Mary Ella Hausam and the devotions were closed with a prayer by Mrs. Maddox.

Mr. Mable Kraft announced the study course, "Christ, the Church and Race" which will begin at the next Guild meeting to be held Oct. 8.

An announcement was made regarding the Fall Retreat to be held at Camp Galilee, El Dorado Springs, Mo., Sept. 21-22. About 12 members of the local Guild indicated they were planning to attend.

Miss Anna Lee, Duane Campbell Wed in Double Ring Ceremony

At half past seven o'clock Saturday evening, September 7, Miss Anna Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Lee, Versailles and Duane Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Campbell, Union, were united in marriage at the First Baptist Church in Versailles. The altar of the church was decorated with large baskets of white gladioli and two candelabras holding lighted white tapers. The Rev. Earnest Waite, Warrensburg, performed the double ring ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony a program of wedding music was played by Miss Carol DeVinna, organist. John Hendrix, Kansas City, sang "Because" and "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown in princess design with full flared skirt. The fitted lace bodice was buttoned down the back with satin covered buttons and the long sleeves came to a point over the hands. Her fingertip illusion veil was attached to a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with an orchid. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, gift from the bridegroom.

The maid of honor, Miss Ruby Lee wore an orchid colored dress in princess design with a bodice of Chantilly lace. Her headband of satin was overlaid with net and she carried a bouquet of orchid and white asters.

Miss Marlene Campbell was bridesmaid. She wore a dress identical to the maid of honor's and also carried a bouquet of orchid and white asters.

Stanley Minor, Union, was bestman and groomsmen were Boyd Eversale, Lowery City, Ushers were Wade Huffman, Versailles, Charles Hopkins, Sedalia, and Donald Burton, Lincoln.

Brenda Combs was flower girl, her wedding a teal blue crepe

Bridal Shower Given in Honor Of Miss Brosing

A bridal shower was given in honor of Miss Wain Brosing Sept. 18 by Mrs. Terry Benson of Arlington, Tex., and Miss Jane Wadleigh at the home of Miss Wadleigh, Route 1.

Appropriate games were played with prizes going to Miss Brosing, Mrs. Ralph Rider and Mrs. Chester Wissman.

Gifts were placed on the dining table which was decorated with an umbrella, and streamers of pink, green, yellow and blue crepe paper fell from the chandelier to the four corners of the table.

Refreshments were served to: Miss Brosing, Mrs. Anna Elliott, Mrs. Ralph Rider and Nancy, Mrs. Frank Maltberger, Mrs. Ab Ball, Mrs. Clyde Williams and Debbie Jean, Mrs. Chester Wissman and Sharon, Mrs. Roy Meier, Mrs. Donald Lewis, Miss Vesta Elliott, Mrs. John Horter, Mrs. Clarence Wadleigh and Debbie Jane Benson.

Unable to attend but sending gifts were Mrs. Walter McClure, Erna Ann McClure, Mrs. Bill Schumaker and Mrs. Ernest Schumaker.

Book is Reviewed At All Day Session

The Harrington Circle met with two other circles of New Hope Baptist Church at the church all-day Thursday, Sept. 12.

At the morning session Mrs. Orie McKinney presented the first part of the book, "Primer of Prayer." A covered dish luncheon was served to eight members and two guests in the church basement.

A short business meeting was conducted that afternoon with Miss Mable Aldridge leading in prayer. Mrs. Nadine Glasscock presented the remaining portion of the book. The project of the month is to visit the sick and shut-ins.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Marion Schmidt, 424 East 14th.

Col. James D. Carter

Director of State Penal Program Is Sorosis Speaker

Col. James Donald Carter, director of the Department of Corrections, Jefferson City, was the speaker at Sorosis Monday afternoon, talking on the subject, "Expansion in Our Penal Program."

Life termers and those in for 99 years, Col. Carter pointed out, will some day be let out and it is our job to train them so they will become good citizens. The word "rehabilitation", he said, does not apply only to the inmates but also to the public. There are some who are habitual criminals, he pointed out, who keep coming back, but most of them go back out into the world with good intentions and, unless they are accepted by the people, the rehabilitation program where they have been taught trades, is all in vain. "We think we are Christians," he said, "yet few have ever gone out of the way to help an ex-inmate," and he prefers that term to "ex-convict".

Finland, Col. Carter told the group has the best system he knows of. When a man is sent to prison each little township takes over. There is a committee appointed to go to his family and see how they can help. Other men counsel with the man himself and others try to set up a program so he will have a job when he comes out.

Most of the inmates, said Col. Carter, are from broken homes. The biggest percentage of inmates are not all bad, if they just had a break. The repeaters, too, he said, are being worked on, and this has reduced in the last few years the percentage from 60-odd to 30-odd. This has been done through a diagnostic center which has been set up.

Col. Carter explained that through the specific wording of those to be sent to Algoa Farms, youths from 17 to 25, there are now boys of 16 in the penitentiary. They are sent to the training school at Booneville not because their crimes are too bad, but because they can't be sent to Algoa Farms since the age specified is 17 to 25 and they are not yet 17. They shouldn't be in the penitentiary, he said, because that is for older men.

Carter said that a diagnostic center will be set up where all inmates will be given tests by a professional staff and then they will be sent to the place where they will be most likely to succeed, the Algoa Farms, the penitentiary or the new medium security prison which is to be built at Moberly.

What has caused the riots? Col. Carter stated that he saw a large stack of mail pushed into the waste basket. It is not the food that always causes the riots in prison, it is the run-around. These men are human beings and we are the keepers. When they go to prison they still want to know what is going on at home, how their families are getting along. They are entitled to their mail.

Col. Carter stated that there is, in the prison, an elementary school

Oldest Ship Afloat Wins Harbor Skirmish

BALTIMORE (AP)—The 160-year-old USS Constellation, the nation's oldest fighting ship still afloat, won a skirmish with a Liberian freighter in Baltimore Harbor last night.

Hostilities began a week ago when "Greek and Chinese music" roared from the freighter's loud-speaker system to entertain its crew.

Donald Stewart, Constellation caretaker, couldn't sleep. Last night he responded to the music with 16-gun broadsides — on record, of course. Stewart kept his loud-speaker going for three hours, ending with a selection by the Highland Bagpipers.

The Liberian ship had struck its loud-speaker.

Sedalian Is Named To College Honor Roll

Jerome L. Wolf, Jr., 1613 East Broadway was among the 88 students achieving high scholastic attainments in Ohio State University's College of Arts and Sciences during the summer quarter.

now from which those who have completed the course receive a diploma, and those who finish the high school course also receive a diploma. These, he pointed out, are regular diplomas like all given in the state, granted by the state department of education which is co-operating in the program.

Exactly what such an opportunity means to these people was shown in the human interest story told by Carter. A Negro woman of 56 held the elementary diploma in her hand and with tears in her eyes said: "Col. Carter, you will never know what this means to me. Now I can read my letters from home and I can write home." She had never been able to read or write before. Then there are correspondence courses offered, too.

Missouri now ranks sixth in educational system and is moving forward with the help of the State Board of Education.

There are vocational programs, as well. Shop supervisors are sent to Lincoln University for courses and this is a great step forward. There is a fine religious program in the prison, too. There have always been chaplains, one Protestant and one Catholic, but these people need a consulting chaplain because they have questions to ask. About 50 per cent of the inmates attend church services. If they think about religion, Col. Carter said, they will be more able to find themselves.

Shortly they will have a new dining room program. These people who are about to complete their terms of 30 years or more need to know what to do when they get out. Some of them have never seen a menu. There will not be a great variety to select from, of course, he said, but they will be taught to use a menu and knives and forks. Some of these men who have come from broken homes have never had anybody to show them. They will be taught the right approach for a job and told always to tell the truth about themselves.

Col. Carter stated that questionnaires were being sent out to industries over the state and the first question is: "Would you be willing to hire an ex-inmate?" The second question is "If not, why?" The third question is, "If willing, what kind of work would they do?"

Case workers will follow through with the training report and the people will be recommended by the penal authorities.

He pointed out that these young men are lonesome and want to talk to women. They don't care what age women, because women make them think of their mothers. No matter how a man falls, you can always get results by talking about his mother.

The young men from the rural districts are sent to the farms and the others to industry, and there are eight industries in the prison now. One of these industries is a soap factory where hand soap, laundry soap and soap flakes are made. They are granted a parole if they have no conduct violations and on the promise of the family that they will take the responsibility of them. They are given a hearing after serving one third of their term and then paroled some time after that.

The people of Missouri, he said, realized the situation in the penal institutions here and didn't take it laying down; they recently voted the bond issue.

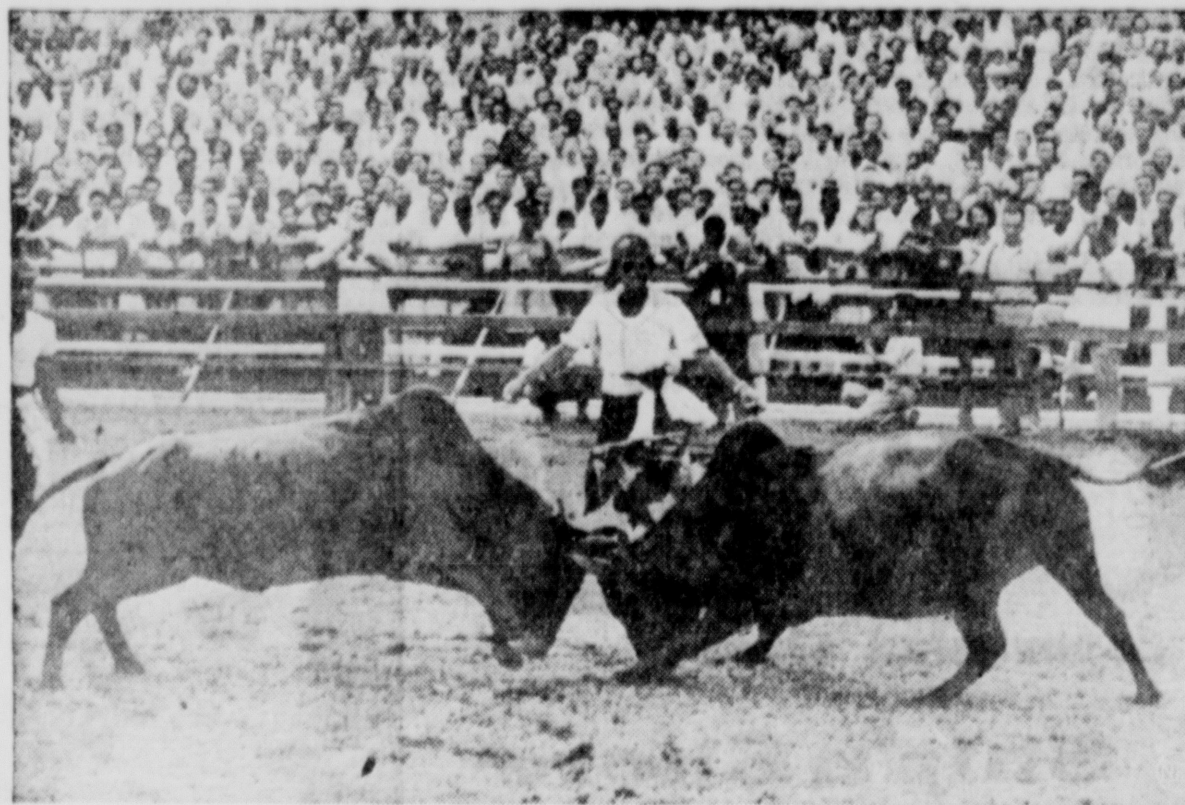

The Department of Correction, Col. Carter said, is not just for the penitentiary. It has six divisions — education; agriculture; industry; penitentiary, women's prison; and Algoa Farms.

Col. Carter was introduced by Mrs. George T. Lockett, civics chairman. She also introduced Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Elliott of Jefferson City.

Mrs. William Gibson, vice-president, presided at the meeting in the absence of Mrs. Harold Dean, president.

Mrs. Joseph Maunders art and drama chairman, announced the speaker for next week will be Miss Ann Hayes of Kansas City, who will speak on "The Art of Living."

The new members luncheon will precede the program and will be held at noon instead of the usual time of 12:30 p.m. Reservations must be in by Friday.

Bachelor Days Are Numbered For Popular Bear

WASHINGTON (AP)—If the Forest Service carries out its plan, the bachelor days of Smokey the bear are numbered.

Right now, officials of the service are making plans for a new home for the popular fire-fighting bruiser at the Washington Zoo. And the plans, complete to an artist's sketch, include accommodations for a Mrs. Smokey.

How Smokey's legion of youthful admirers—he receives up to 2,000 letters a day—are going to react to this bit of news is something that the Forest Service isn't discussing publicly.

Nor has the service yet picked any mate for Smokey, a 7-year-old black bear of the "cinnamon phase." Officials would prefer that his prospective mate be of the same strain, possibly 4 or 5 years old.

She may even be of Canadian origin, since the Canadians, too, have taken up Smokey as a symbol of forest fire control.

Smokey has lived in conventional caged quarters since he was brought to Washington in 1950 after being rescued, a badly burned and frightened cub, from a fire-devastated area of the Lincoln National Forest in New Mexico. It was this experience that led the Forest Service to make him the popular symbol of a drive to save the nation's forest lands from fire.

The idea now is to provide him with as natural a home as possible. His quarters would be landscaped to resemble a bit of the wilderness. There would be no bars, but a moat would separate him from visitors.

64 Unions to Strike One Day in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Members of 62 unions last night voted unanimously to stage a general 24-hour strike at midnight tomorrow to back demands that wages be increased to meet rising living costs.

Construction workers put on a 24-hour strike yesterday and dock workers are on the second day of a 48-hour walkout. Troops were sent to unload ships.

Other unions called slowdowns in sympathy with striking telephone and telegraph workers, who were the first to launch the current drive against the government's wage freeze policy. The government is trying to stabilize wages to combat inflation.

Cooper Co. Teachers Have Monthly Meet

The executive committee of the Cooper County Teachers Association met Monday night at the county court house in Booneville with the county administrators for the annual meeting.

The two groups with the Cooper County Activities Association music teachers and coaches met for dinner at Holts Cafe before attending the separate meetings.

Sam Cochran, president of the county teachers association, announced the first county teacher's meeting will be held Oct. 21. A barbecue supper will be enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blanker, baker and Mrs. William Forbes, Booneville, Mrs. Dorsey Clay, Prairie Home and a delegate from Buncheon, will attend the state teachers meeting in St. Louis, Nov. 6-9.

E. E. Brooker, Pilot Grove, and A. Mendenhall, Ottumwa, were named as county delegates to the district teachers meeting at Warrensburg in October. Brooker will serve on the nominating committee and Mendenhall on the resolutions committee.

The officers of the Cooper County School administrators organized for the year with Marvin Thomas elected president and E. E. Brooker, Pilot Grove, vice president. C. A. Repp was appointed secretary.

New Resident Gets Parade of Salesmen Including a Hearse

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Dr. Alfred Whiton, who recently joined Pennsalt Chemicals Corp. and moved into a home near here, said he got the full treatment and a real shock from a parade of greeters and tradesmen.

Dr. Whiton said he was visited by four milkmen, three bakery men, three dry cleaners, four storm window salesmen, a lawn-mower salesman, a trash collector, a food club planner, two insurance agents, three fuel oil distributors and a water softener technician.

What bowled him over, though, was the arrival of a hearse at his front door.

Nearly as surprising as the presence of the hearse was the use being made of it. A nurseryman had it filled with peat moss and samples of shrubbery he was selling.

The U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis was opened Oct. 10, 1845.

Father Keeps Vigil Beside His Son's Bed

NEW HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP)—"When Bobby was little I used to become annoyed if he cried in the night and woke us up. How I wish he could cry now."

It was Joseph Spierer speaking yesterday from the hospital bedside of his son Robert, 8, who has been in a coma most of the time for the past two months.

Robert's plight began with a bike accident July 9. The boy was taken to Long Island Jewish Hospital, seemingly recovered rapidly, and was discharged after two weeks.

Then, on Aug. 2, the Spierers heard a cry in the night: "Help me. My head hurts. Don't leave me, daddy."

Robert's daddy didn't leave him. Spierer let his job slide, although his employer, an electronics firm, still pays part of his salary.

Back in the hospital, neurosurgeons have operated on Robert's brain twice. Said Spierer: "The doctors tell me there is not much hope. My boy is failing. Some days his face is exactly like a death mask."

Spierer said he couldn't leave the boy, who hasn't spoken since that fateful August night.

"Suppose he did say something and I wasn't there to hear it?" the father said. "He asked me not to leave him. If he sees me there he knows I have hope that he is going to live."

Sometimes Robert opens his eyes and he stares blankly at his father. The Spierers have another son, Christopher, 12.

Spierer, who has left Robert's bedside only a few minutes at a time, recalled his annoyance at Bobby's crying when a baby.

"Now when I sit there at night and hear other kids crying out in the ward, I hate myself," he said.

Robert's mother Josephine can't go to Robert's room any more. After each visit, she could not eat or sleep for days. So she keeps her own lonely vigil — all day long—in a car parked outside the hospital.

Army Has Its Doubts About River Project

WASHINGTON — Army engineers question whether a slack-water navigation project on the Missouri River can be justified economically.

But Maj. Gen. E. C. Itchner, chief of engineers, said in a report just released that a further study might be advisable "so that authoritative and up-to-date data on costs and benefits will be available."

Itchner said in submitting the report to Chairman Murray (D-Mont.) of the Senate Interior Committee that such a study would require from two to three years and cost between $100,000 and $200,000.

Additional congressional authorization, plus an appropriation would be needed for such a study.

The engineers' views on Missouri River operations were requested by the committee after a series of hearings in May. Their report has been made public by the committee.

It has been suggested that consideration be given to replacement of the open-river navigation system by a canalization project.

This would be an improvement of the river from Sioux City, Iowa, to the mouth to permit slack water navigation by means of a system of locks and dams—a type of improvement which would permit navigation with flows substantially reduced below those now required.

Itchner said the slack water system would permit substantial reduction in navigation season flows and increased winter season power releases without curtailment of navigation.

"There is, however, a limitation on the extent to which releases during the winter may be increased because of the increased hazard from ice jams with higher winter flows," he said.

Also, Itchner pointed out that after all main-stem reservoirs are completed and filled "it appears that reduction in summer releases for navigation will have a relatively minor effect on power generation."

He said preliminary studies of such a project for slack water navigation on the Missouri from Yankton, S. D., to the mouth were undertaken by the engineers in 1932.

Actress to Divorce Husband Second Time

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — Actress Irene Hervey, 48, is divorcing her husband of 21 years, singer Allan Jones, 50.

Louisiana Draft Group Resigns in Protest Of Ike's Troop Call

OAK GROVE, La. — The five members of the West Carroll Parish (county) draft board resigned in protest of using federal troops in the Little Rock integration dispute.

The board issued this statement yesterday to Brig. Gen. Raymond Hufft, state adjutant general and head of state selective service system:

"We will not lend our support or time to be instrumental in any way in calling into the service any of the young men of our community for such a purpose. We cannot help but wonder if the people of Hungary, in protesting rulings made arbitrarily by a commissar, were not also branded by leaders of the Soviet Union with the Russian equivalent of the word 'mob' and thereupon subdued by the Russian equivalent of federal troops."

Reports No Evidence Of Plot on Queen

LONDON — Scotland Yard says it can find no evidence of a plot to assassinate Queen Elizabeth II on her visit to New York next month.

A brief Scotland Yard statement last night said "there was in fact no threat" in a report Lady Patricia Fairweather passed on to the yard.

She said she received word two weeks ago from a visiting American that Irish-Americans sympathetic to the outlawed Irish Republican Army were behind a plot.

"There is probably nothing in it," she told newsmen, "but I thought it should be reported."

Tuesday, Oct. 1—4-H Junior Leader Council meeting at 8 p.m. in courthouse.

Friday, Oct. 4—Extension Club County Achievement Day at First Methodist Church.

Saturday, Oct. 5—County Dramatics Committee meeting, 10 a.m., at extension office.

Saturday, Oct. 5—"District Make It Yourself With Wool" contest. First Methodist Church.

New Extension Club
The Home Economics Extension Club Council is happy to welcome the Oak Grove Extension Club. This club has been inactive as an extension club for two years but has voted to reorganize. Mrs. Ernest Schlobohm will serve as president for the coming year.

We hope there will be other groups join the other 30 clubs in the county.

County Achievement Day
Friday, Oct. 4, is the day set aside by extension club women for their annual Achievement Day. The meeting will be held at the First Methodist Church, Fourth and Osage in Sedalia.

The day's activities will start at 10 a.m. with educational exhibits. A turkey luncheon will be served beginning at 11:30 a.m. Tickets are available at the extension office for 85 cents. Reservations must be made by noon Tuesday, Oct. 1.

The afternoon program will begin at 1 o'clock with group singing. The speaker will be Mrs. Marian Beebe, state club agent, University of Missouri whose subject will be "Homemaking Is an Art."

Young Homemakers will be interested in hearing Mrs. Beebe as her talk will be primarily directed to them but will be of interest to any age group.

Extension club women are urged to invite and bring young homemakers in their community who are not club members.

Young homemakers classes will be discussed.

Freeze Fresh Raw Apples
We have had several calls this week asking if fresh raw apples may be frozen to be used later in pies, cobbles etc. Freezing raw apples is recommended as follows:

Syrup pack is preferred for apples to be used for fruit cocktail or uncooked dessert. Apples packed in sugar or frozen unsweetened are good for pie making. For better quality, apple slices need to be treated to prevent darkening.

Select full-flavored apples that are crisp and firm, not mealy in texture. Wash, peel, and core. Slice medium apples into twelfths, large ones into sixteenths.

Pack in one of the following ways:

Syrup pack. Use 40 per cent syrup. For a better quality frozen product add ½ teaspoon (1,000 milligrams) ascorbic acid to each quart of syrup.

Slice apples directly into cold syrup in container, starting with ½ cup syrup to a pint container. Press fruit down in containers and add enough syrup to cover.

Leave head space. Seal and freeze.

Sugar pack. To prevent darkening of apples during preparation, slice them into a solution of 2 tablespoons salt to a gallon of water. Hold in this solution no more than 15 to 20 minutes. Drain.

To retard darkening, place slices in a single layer in steamer and steam 1½ to 2 minutes, depending on thickness of slice. Cool in cold water and drain.

Over each quart (1½ pounds) of apple slices, sprinkle evenly ½ cup sugar and stir.

Pack apples into containers and press fruit down, leaving head space. Seal and freeze.

Unsweetened pack. Follow directions for sugar pack, omitting sugar.

Applesauce
Select full-flavored apples. Wash apples, peel if desired, core, and slice. To each quart of apple slices add ¼ cup water. Cook apples until tender. Cool and strain. Sweeten to taste with ¼ to ¾ cup sugar for each quart (2 pounds) of sauce.

Pack into containers, leaving head space. Seal and freeze.

VARIATION ON OLD THEME—Bottles with model ships inside them are fairly common, but New York furniture store owner Joseph Kremen is mystified by this miniature chair, complete with wicker seat, in an old whisky bottle. Kremen's father-in-law bought it from the maker 20 years ago for a dollar. Fifty times that amount couldn't persuade Kremen to part with it now.

Red China Condemns Two Religious Leaders For Stirring Spirits

HONG KONG — Red China has condemned to death two Taoist religious leaders accused of trying to equip an army of the spirit world with paper weapons to attack the Communist party.

The strange story of Li Kwei-ying and Chiang Chang-hen was told in the Sept. 9 issue of Kwang Ming Jih Pao, Peiping organ of the fellow-traveling Democratic League, just received here.

Li and Chiang were caught and tried in the province of Hunan.

The paper said their crime was "preparing paper-made robes, swords, warships, banners, bows and arrows in a vicious attempt to equip an army of the other world and attack the Communist party."

The court did not take the charge too seriously. It let off Li and Chiang with 8-year sentences.

But the masses questioned the light sentences, the paper said, and the case was reviewed and the two were condemned to die.

Sewage Workers In First of Five Classes

Jesse Barlow, supervisor of water and sewage works of the Missouri Division of Health, Jefferson City, conducted the first in a series of five schools for sewage works operators of Central Missouri at the local Division of Health office Wednesday.

Barlow was assisted by Clifford Summers of the Missouri Division of Health, Jefferson City, and Louis Payton and Paul Decker of the District Health Office, Sedalia.

The class was held in the conference room of the new district office at 106 West Broadway and the following were in attendance: Charlie Simon, Sedalia; L. R. Boys End 3-Day Strike

TWIN FALLS, Idaho — Thirty high school boys have ended their three-day strike against school officials in a dispute over absenteeism.

Negotiations for three days resulted in the students agreeing to return to their tasks and school authorities agreeing that the three days of freedom would count only as one day of absence.

The dispute flared when school officials said there would be no more official excuses for deer and elk hunting trips.

AFL-CIO Council Approves Trainmen's Affiliation Request

NEW YORK — The AFL-CIO Executive Council has approved a request for affiliation from the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

The BRT, now independent, has 160,000 active members in the United States, 20,000 in Canada and 30,000 on the retired list.

Approval by the council, the top AFL-CIO body, was announced by the federation's president, George Meany, after yesterday's meeting here.

Meany said the federation had given assurances that the BRT would move to eliminate from its constitution the provisions excluding Negroes from membership. He said 2,000 Negroes already hold cards.

Star Problem

MAYSVILLE, Ky. — Young David DeLisle, noticing a star-like design before the serial number on a dollar bill, wrote the U. S. Secret Service for an explanation.

Back came a letter from U. E. Baughman, chief of the service, who explained:

"The small design in front of the serial number indicates it is a 'Star' note. Every one-hundred-million note is a 'Star' note. They are used to replace notes that are found to be defective."

Now David has a problem: Should he retain the one-in-a-hundred-million bill or live it up a dollar's worth?

Policeman Rips Off His Badge

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — "I've got a lot of friends here and I don't want to lose them," Tommy Dunaway said shortly after he yanked off his policeman's badge.

In a dramatic moment at Central High School Monday, where city police manned barricades to hold back crowds protesting school integration, the 27-year-old rookie cop pulled off his badge and announced, "I'm through."

He stalked away from the street, where officers, swinging billy clubs, sought to quell the mob that became frenzied when nine Negro students entered the high school.

The crowd of about 1,000 white persons cheered as Dunaway left to remove his blue uniform and end his career as a law officer.

They passed the hat for Tommy on the spot. News photographers snapped pictures of the crowd contributing money. Some said the collection totaled about $300, but Dunaway said it was less than a third of that.

"I'm a construction worker by trade, but I'll take most any job that will provide for my wife and family," he said. He has two children—a boy 2 and a girl 4.

Dunaway, himself a Central High graduate, is an athlete of wide local reputation. In the early 1950s he won the heavyweight title in the Mid-South Golden Gloves bouts at Memphis, Tenn., and the Arkansas state AAU championship. As a guard, he played football at high school and at Little Rock Junior College.

"I'm a Southerner," he said, in an effort to explain his impulsive action Monday. "It's not that I'm against integration so much. If it can be worked out peacefully I imagine Southern people would go along with it . . . without its being forced down their throats."

Ham Operators Attend Mid-Western Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Goist, Route 2, and Garnett Bryan, 2601 South Grand, drove to Kansas City, Kan., Friday evening to attend the Mid-Western American Radio Relay League, Inc., convention which was held at the Town House Sept. 21 and 22. The three Sedalians are amateur operators, and Mrs. Carl Goist is president of the local ham club, which is known as the Amateur Radio Club of Central Missouri Inc. There were 445 registered at the convention.

The key speaker for the banquet Saturday night was Maj. Gen. Francis H. Griswold, vice-commander of Strategic Air Command.

One of the highlights Sunday morning was a lady photographer of Kansas City, Kan., that made the trip to Moscow, Russia, with Bea Johnson and the group of ladies that made that tour. She gave a talk on Russia and showed pictures that she had taken. She also mentioned that she stayed two weeks longer than the rest of the group. It cost her $30 a day for those two weeks, but that paid for her room and board and the board consisted of four meals a day, and the use of a car two days a day, and then a guide that did her translation.

Sees Large Amount Of Radioactive Waste

STILLWATER, Okla. — A University of Texas expert on Radiological waste disposal said it will take a lake the size of the state and 15 feet deep to safely dilute all the strontium 90 which will be produced by 1990. Dr. Ernest F. Golyana, professor of sanitary engineering, described strontium as "one of the bad actors" among radioactive wastes and said the supply would be about 15 tons in 33 years.

"FLYING JEEP"—Artist's sketch shows the dream vehicle of Army Aviation, an aerial jeep. The burgeoning new Army branch is bent on developing planes which would change the face of small-scale warfare regarding reconnaissance, observation, troop deployment, etc. The ducted-fan principle, a propulsion method which may give the Army a whole new family of airborne transport vehicles, is used on the aerial jeep.

Russians Scrap 5-Year Plan For Production

MOSCOW — The Soviet Union is scrapping its sixth five-year plan and replacing it with an ambitious new production campaign aimed at surpassing the United States by 1965.

The current five-year plan was scheduled to run from 1956 through 1960.

A decree yesterday from the Central Committee of the Communist party and the Council of Ministers of the U.S.S.R. said it will be replaced by a new heavy industry and agriculture program running from 1959 through 1965.

The main objective, the decree said, is to "catch up with and surpass the most advanced capitalist country in the per capita production of goods in the quickest possible time."

Top priority must continue on the rapid development of means of production, the announcement said.

The directive called for sharp acceleration in the production of artificial fibers, nonferrous metals, chemicals of all sorts, plastics and artificial leather, electricity, fuels, farm products and housing. It also demanded a speedup of reclamation work in Siberia and the Far East.

Berserk Father Kills 3 Infant Children And Slashes His Wife

NEW YORK — A Brooklyn father went berserk with a knife last night, killed his three infant children and slashed his common-law wife. The man was critically wounded as he fought arresting patrolmen.

Police said Isidro Toledo, 25, wielded the knife after a violent argument with Margareta Ralat, 32.

Stabbed fatally were Ann Theresa, 2; Ferdinand Louis, 1; and Isidro Jr., 3 months. The mother was not injured seriously.

Two probationary patrolmen, summoned by neighbors, said Toledo tried to assault them. One officer drew a gun and shot him.

He Watches Missile Die During Test

MISSILE TEST CENTER, Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP)—Yesterday I watched a missile die. It was a thrilling and sobering experience. It started Sunday when we heard, via grapevine, that a big missile was to be fired from this way between Miami and Jacksonville. Rumor said this was to be the Atlas.

That's the Air Force's name for our intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM). We had stood on this same beach, in almost the identical spot, June 11 watched while our first ICBM, riding upward on a tail of fire, wobbled and exploded like a million firecrackers.

Now we were back again, three months and 14 days later, to see what improvements, if any, had been made. In the meantime, the Russians said they had developed such a missile.

The Atlas, we had read, was designed to travel 15,000 miles an hour, reach an altitude of 600 miles and hurtle down on the enemy at a speed 40 times faster than sound.

The June edition of the Atlas had climbed only about 6,000 feet. We hoped—and expected—this one would do far better.

Since Monday, when newsmen took up the vigil from dawn to dark, word had spread up and down this booming peninsula and by firing time 50 or more newsmen, bathers, bird watchers and even a traveling evangelist swarmed to the beach.

At 2:56 p.m. the monster with the cone-shaped head started to rise; slowly, it seemed at first, but it was rising and gaining speed. A bouquet of flame hung beneath it. Up, up it went for perhaps a mile, then what appeared to be two spent rockets fell away.

Atlas moved upward a bit more, then faltered like an old man climbing stairs, shuddered and burst into a great mass of red, yellow and orange-colored flame.

As the skelton plunged toward the sea, nature mercifully provided a cover of clouds to hide its death throes.

The Defense Department confirmed a missile had been fired but would say no more. Authoritative sources said it was the Atlas.

Hours later Wilfred J. McNeil, assistant secretary of defense and the department's comptroller, said the cost of developing usable ballistic missiles "will be a good deal more than double the cost of developing the first atomic bomb."

That was about two billion dollars. Atlas firings in June and September lasted less than five minutes but each was an awesome display of fire and potential destruction and may well mark the birth of one of our chief weapons of warfare.

Symington Suggests Milk Price Support Program for Farmers

PINEVILLE, Mo. (AP)—Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) yesterday suggested a milk marketing subsidy type of program as a means of helping farmers.

He proposed two possible programs for milk sellers: One, an independent marketing association without government control or assistance; the other, a program with the government in control.

Symington said he would seek legislation like that in the next session of Congress.

Symington and Rep. Charles Brown, Seventh District congressman from Springfield, appeared at a meeting during their tour of southwest Missouri.

Defending price supports for farmers, Symington said that labor's wages increased 22 per cent over the same period that corporate profits went up 33 per cent. In the same period, he said, farm income showed a 30 per cent decline after inventory adjustment.

Brown and Symington will hold meetings in Mansfield, Marshfield and Bolivar today.

Indian Fighter Dies

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Capt. Ernest Stecker, 33, who volunteered at the age of 17 to fight Indians in Dakota territory, died today.

Stecker, born in Baltimore, Md., in 1874, enlisted in the 7th U.S. Cavalry and went off to fight Indians. Later he commanded an Indian cavalry troop at Ft. Sill, Okla., which was made up of Apache Indians who had fought with Geronimo.

Sedalia Woman Is Speaker For Eldon's BPWC Banquet

Mrs. Marjorie Gararsson, second vice-president of the Sedalia Business and Professional Women's Club, was the speaker at the Public Affairs Banquet of the Eldon Business and Professional Women's Club, Monday night. This is the outstanding meeting of the year and the highlight of National Business Women's Week. She took as her subject: "What Membership in BPW Means To You."

Excerpts from Mrs. Gararsson's talk follow:

"This week America salutes 22 million women who work. September 22 through the 28th is being observed across the nation as National Business Women's week. It's the 29th Annual Business Women's week originated and sponsored by The National Federation of BPW Clubs.

"You know, there are many things of which our country can be justly proud and one of these is the tremendous impact — the important role — of women in today's business world. Throughout the pages of history the influence of women can be clearly traced — but, certainly at no time in the past have they played the tremendous role they do today.

"The one organization that's had a lot to do with women managing to take their place in almost every profession, almost every field of business in the country — the one organization that's had a lot to do with giving women the incentive to improve their positions is The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs. The National Federation, the oldest and largest national organization for women who work, was established in 1919 at St. Louis, by a small group of business and professional women from 45 states. On Nov. 1, 1919, an executive office was set up in New York City. On March 26, 1956 the national executive office moved to Washington, D. C.

"On Sunday, Sept. 22, National President Hazel Palmer of Sedalia cut the green and gold ribbon that officially opened the handsome new headquarters of the Business Women's Club at 2012 Massachusetts Ave. Yes, this new headquarters will give the working women everywhere an appropriate and vital symbol of their hopes, dreams and future.

"Have you ever had your friends ask you, 'What is the Business and Professional Women's Club?' Very seldom do we hear someone ask 'What is the Business and Professional Women's Club,' for everyone seems to have his own interpretation. Our Business and Professional Women's Club has obtained a position of far greater importance than when it was established in 1919 at St. Louis.

"Actually, your Business and Professional Women's Club is a group of aggressive, altruistic and enterprising business and professional women dedicated to elevate the standards for women in the business and professions. No longer is your Business and Professional Women's Club a selfish organization of private individuals but rather it is a highly organized group of dynamic women leaders representing medicine, law, insurance, industry, accounting, banking, all giving of their time and their material assets that you as business and professional women may live a fuller and more satisfying life.

"It becomes obvious, then, that your Business and Professional Women's Club is comprised of dedicated individuals, building for posterity, as well as prosperity, firm in the belief that every woman is dependent upon other women and that by mutual assistance and development of ideas, all women will benefit.

"In the days and weeks ahead of American Citizens, our BPW experience and our fast-growing vibrant organization will be of even greater value to our country. Admittedly we are on the spot as women, too. Statistics clearly indicate — just as the gentleman said, that there are more adult women citizens than men. This is the challenge — to help leading women citizens make wise decisions.

"Membership in BPW — What does it mean? To many it means the privilege of wearing this pin. But the emblem on your pin is more than just a pin. To wear your Federation emblem is to proclaim your belief in its aims and ideals. It symbolizes the spirit of progress to which our Federation is dedicated.

"Nike depicts individual freedom, strength and triumph, which our organization must have in order to face the storms of prejudice and limitations. The torch, casting its upright flame in a process of progress, is the symbol of leadership, wisdom and ideals. The wand heralds a new era of opportunity and equality for women, to be achieved by the effort of health, harmony and power. The ship of commerce suggests the entrance of women into business and professions and also is a symbol that into all lands our message of a better world for both women and men must be sent with good will and friendly fellowship. The scroll is for our achievements. It is our symbol of leadership in thinking on economic problems and the establishment of conditions which assure to women, and to men as well, the fullest possible opportunity.

"These five symbols cast in this small circle of gold — the circle signifying endless harmony and loyalty to Federation ideals, the initials, NFBPWC, and the founding date, 1919, on the scroll — comprise our emblem. Let's all be an emblem wearer."

NAMED—Dr. E. Sidney Smith, above, has been named Minister of External Affairs for Canada, by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker. He succeeds Lester Pearson who served in that position in the last government. Dr. Smith is a former president of Toronto University.

Newsman Give Negro Delivery Boy Money To Replace Cut Tires

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Newsman took up a collection yesterday for a Negro boy whose bicycle tires were slashed by a crowd of whites.

About 40 white teenagers and men stood in front of a house for about 20 minutes waiting for the Negro delivery boy. They slashed one bicycle tire and let the air out of the other.

An unidentified newsman pulled out a $5 bill and several others quickly chipped in. The boy was handed about $20 before he was escorted away by soldiers.

Says We Need More Labor Legislation

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Chairman Boyd Leedom said today the National Labor Relations Board can catch some labor crooks under the Taft-Hartley law. But he said further legislation is needed to "widen the nets for a still greater catch."

Taking note of recent labor racketeers' disclosures, Leedom said the NLRB will move wherever it can to "eliminate the uncovered evils." His remarks were prepared for the Labor Law Institute of the Missouri Bar Assn.

Leedom said that beyond what the board can do, "the good sense of the American people should prevail to legislate anew and precisely only in those areas which clearly require legislation."

"The Taft-Hartley Act can deal with some of the crooks," he said, "and the honest labor movement will take care of a great deal more, and whatever new legislation Congress decides to pass should widen the nets for a still greater catch."

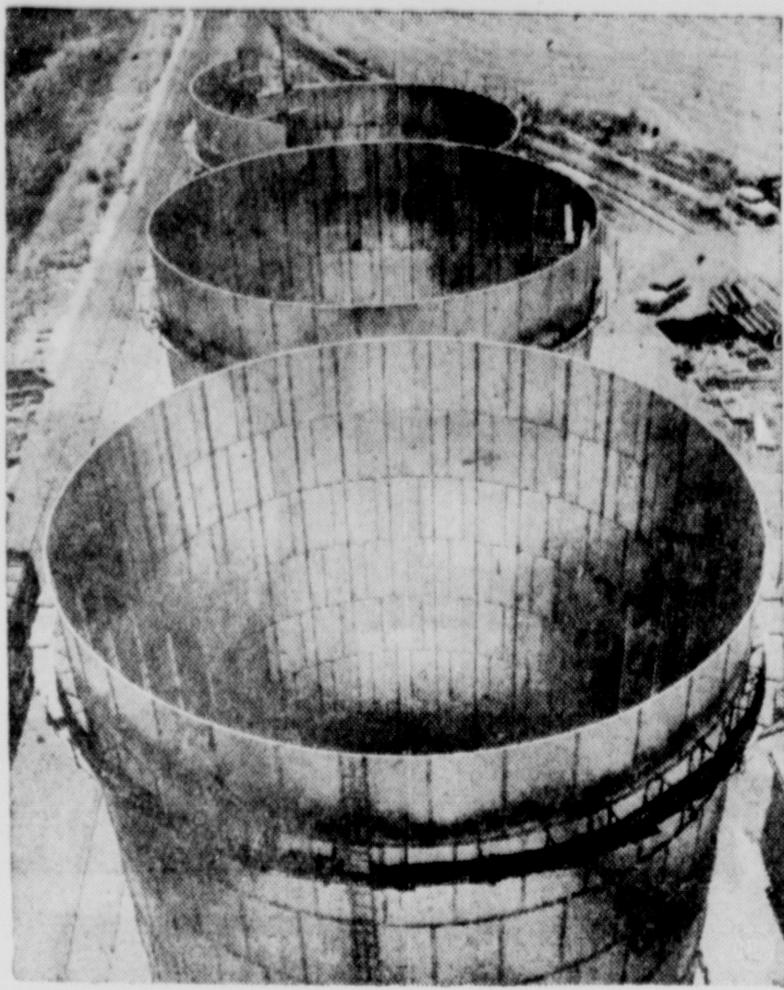

But, Leedom said, no law can guarantee morality. What is needed to cure evil practices in labor-management relations, he said, is a conviction by management that employees' welfare is more important than profits, and a belief by union leaders that members' rights mean more than the leaders' own income and union powers.

"That this moral utopia may seem as unreal and impractical as a midsummer night's dream is proof that we—our society generally—is in fact indirectly responsible for the ugly practices being brought to light among us," Leedom said.

Leedom said the NLRB can and does move to correct union and management abuses whenever charges are brought to the board and when terms of the existing federal labor laws can be applied.

ABC Will Carry Talk By Governor Faubus

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Broadcasting Co. announced today it will carry exclusively Gov. Orval E. Faubus' address tonight on the Little Rock integration situation. The address will be televised nationally at 9 p. m. EST (8 p. m. CST) and aired on radio at 9:05 p. m. EST (8:05 p. m. CST).

LOT OF CORN — These three shining new steel tanks, dwarfing the autos at right, are being rushed to completion to receive California's 1957 corn and milo crops. The 125,000-bushel tanks, being built at Sacramento, are the largest ever built in California and will serve the world export trade in 1962 when a river channel makes the city an ocean port.

Man 'Frozen' For 18 Hours Doing Well

BOSTON (AP)—A 52-year old man was "frozen" for 18 hours last week to permit surgeons to cut out an enlarged artery above the heart.

Today the man, Charles J. Downey, is able to sit in a chair and eat a hearty meal.

Downey expects to leave New England Center Hospital for his Springfield home the middle of next week, less than two weeks after an operation which had never been performed on a human until five years ago.

The artificial hibernation, as body cooling is known, was necessary because the swelling of the aorta, the body's main artery leading from the heart, occurred at the point where the right artery to the heart begins.

Surgeons had to shut off the blood vessel to the head and then protect the brain from vegetating by anesthesia and by cooling the body to reduce the oxygen needs of the brain.

Surgeons say that if the blood supply to the brain is shut off for more than three minutes under ordinary conditions, the organ begins to deteriorate.

The operation lasted 84 hours. The circulation through the artery was shut off for 15 minutes. The body temperature was reduced from 100.4 degrees Fahrenheit to 87 degrees, and kept between 87 and 88 degrees for eight hours. The next day he was warm.

Youth Admits Making Explosive Package That Injured Three

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A Ball State Teachers College senior who couldn't get a date with a coed he admired admitted last night that he made a booby-trapped package that exploded and injured three college girls.

State Police Lt. Robert Dillon said David Wayne Carter, 20, New Castle, Ind., admitted rigging the device and sending it to Ruth Ann Petry, 18.

The package exploded last Friday in a building on the college campus at Muncie, Ind., as Miss Petry and two other coeds opened it. Miss Petry and Linda Helverson, 18, were injured only slightly, but Mrs. Mel Reynolds, 20, lost the tips of two fingers and was wounded in the arms, neck and shoulders.

All three girls are from Anderson, Ind.

Carter was questioned at Muncie because of his attempts to date Miss Petry.

Dillon said Carter left the device in a school locker picked at random. Addressed to Miss Petry, it was found and delivered to her.

Men's beards are tougher and heavier when whiskers are grey or white.

After a tour of the harbor, the McGinley radioed in bewilderment; "There's no Whitehurst here. Only a ship called the Haynes."

Daylight Time Ends In Some Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Daylight saving time ends in some sections of the nation at 2 a.m. this Sunday, but many other areas will keep it another month.

In a few places the closing date for daylight time came earlier, and most of the South and West had no daylight time this summer.

In still other areas, daylight time is officially or unofficially a year 'round affair—a movement that seems to be spreading, but slowly.

Clocks are to be turned back an hour this Sunday in all of California, Nevada, Wisconsin and Minnesota; most of the northeastern Ohio communities which adopted daylight savings time; about 335 communities in Illinois, not including the Chicago area; two counties on the Eastern Shore of Maryland; many communities in Indiana; and about half of Pennsylvania communities.

New England, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, the District of Columbia and its suburbs; most of Maryland; half of Pennsylvania, including Philadelphia and Pittsburgh; and a number of scattered areas, including Chicago, St. Louis and Louisville, will remain on daylight time until Oct. 27.

Year 'round daylight time continues in 15 central Kentucky cities, including Lexington and Frankfort. In Indiana a number of communities near Cincinnati, Ohio, as well as Fort Wayne, Ind., will continue unofficially on "Eastern Standard Time," which has the same effect as daylight time in these central time zone areas. The reason it's unofficial is a new state law requiring daylight time statewide but specifying that it end the last Sunday in September.

A movement also is under way in northern Maine, where Daylight time is due to end Oct. 27, to have it extended throughout the year to offset the area's short winter days. The movement, sparked by personnel of Loring Air Force Base at Limestone, Maine, is gaining support among nearby communities.

Lightning Hits Twice And Victim Files Suit

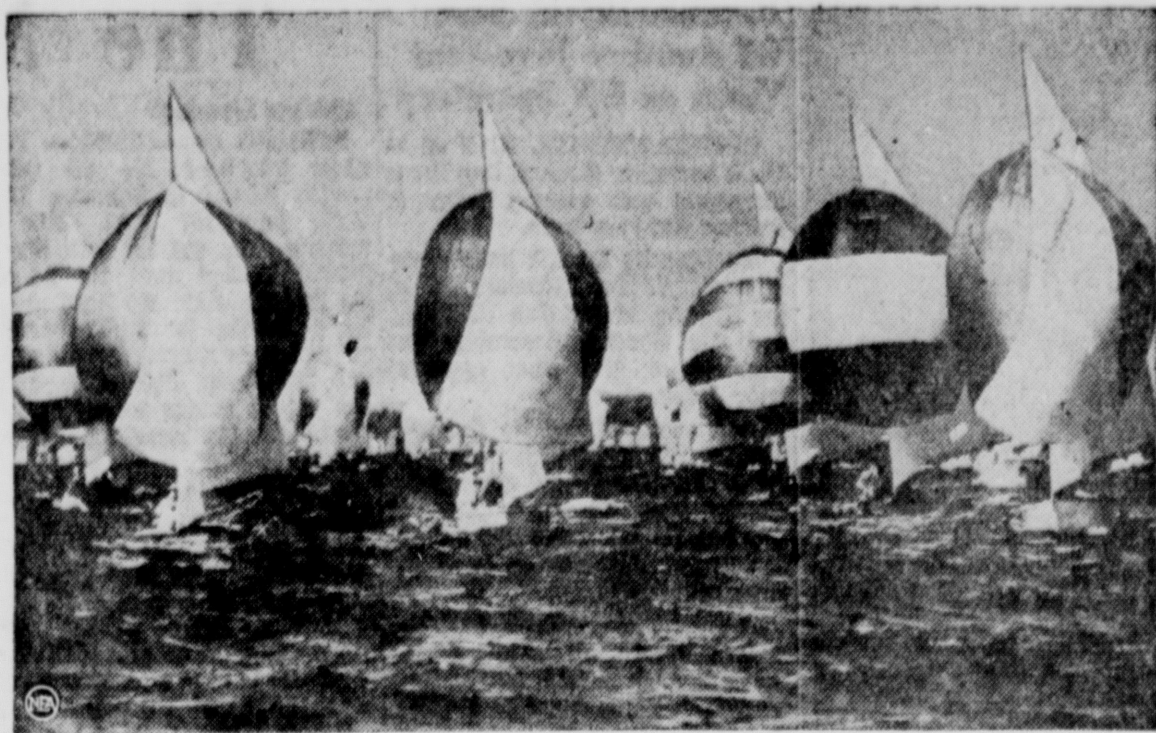

LOS ANGELES — Lightning, a dog, struck twice — and the victim is suing for $10,213 damages.

Harry R. McNamara, a shutter hanger, told the story in a Superior Court suit. He asserted that while he was hanging shutters at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wagener of nearby North Hollywood, the Wagener police dog, Lightning bit him on the right leg, drawing blood.

McNamara said he threatened to stop hanging shutters, but was assured that Lightning would not strike again.

Several weeks later, McNamara said, Lightning did strike — this time hitting another part of McNamara's body.

The throat of the giant blue whale is only six to eight inches in diameter.

WATER COLORS—Bright spinnakers ballooned in the wind as no fewer than 52 craft headed for the finish in the International Lighting Championships off Milford, Conn. The event was the second of a five-race series which drew boats and crews from throughout the United States and entries from Canada and Uruguay. In all the world no sport quite like this.

Uses Cuticle Cutter To Free Himself From Inside Vault

TULARE, Calif. — A cuticle cutter possibly saved a Tulare City Hall employee's life. He used it to free himself from the inside of a locked vault.

Orval Nelson, 22, a draftsman in the city engineer's office, entered the vault to inspect some maps.

The door blew shut and the inner lock jammed.

Nelson attracted attention by rapping on the inside of the vault. For an hour Police Chief Ed Houck, Fire Chief Ben Jones and others tried to open the door.

Then faint metallic clickings were heard inside. Workers tugged on the handle and the door opened.

Nelson had used the cuticle cutters to remove a circular inner lock on the bolt.

Boy Fails to Get Homer But Wins Case

DETROIT — Damages have been awarded to 11-year-old Eugene W. Bader, whose home run in a sandlot baseball game was spoiled because a cocker spaniel bit his leg.

The boy sought $3,000 in damages from the dog's owner, Carmen Karmey, but the award was trimmed to $250 in a judgment handed down by Common Pleas Judge David C. Vokes.

Eugene testified that Karmey's daughter Celeste, 12, was rooting for the other team and kicked the dog on him as he was running between second and third base. The boy said he would have scored a homer except for the bite.

Eugene's team lost.

Graham Says Race Problem Is Everywhere

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. — Everywhere in the world there are race problems, says evangelist Billy Graham. And everywhere, he maintains, the real solution lies not in laws but in the individual human heart.

The 36-year-old North Carolinian who has carried his evangelistic message to people of many different colors in widely different parts of the earth, said last night that he found race relations a problem everywhere he has traveled.

"I've seen them wherever I've been," he told 10,000 people at the Roosevelt Field shopping center in this Long Island community. "They are wherever people look different and talk different."

He added, "I honestly don't think any of us here can point a self-righteous finger at Little Rock."

The Southern Baptist minister, whose New York crusade meetings in Madison Square Garden and elsewhere in the city drew a total audience of more than two million persons, began a short speaking tour of suburban New York areas with last night's service.

Slight Hope for Girl After An Operation Arranged by President

PHILADELPHIA — Doctors today held slight hope for the life of a little girl for whom President Eisenhower helped arrange an operation.

One-year-old Ida Kane underwent surgery yesterday. She was born without a bile duct. Doctors wanted to see if they could do anything to aid her. But they said later they knew of no way to correct the condition.

A family friend, Walter Weigand, had thought the child was suffering from ileitis. He wrote the President, who had suffered an attack of that disease. Eisenhower notified his personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard Snyder. Snyder wrote to Dr. Isidor Ravdin of Philadelphia, who assisted in the President's ileitis operation, and Dr. Ravdin arranged for Ida's operation.

Typh on Slams Base On Island of Okinawa

TOKYO —Typhoon Faye with winds of 138 m.p.h. and gusts up to 190 miles slammed into the big U.S. base island of Okinawa today.

Communications between Okinawa and Tokyo were cut by a power failure on the island. No reports of damage or casualties, if any, were available.

Girard Vows Didn't Shout At Japanese

MAEBASHI, Japan (AP)—William S. Girard surprised his own counsel today by denying under oath that he shouted "Get out!" to scare away Japanese shell collectors on a U. S. firing range last Jan. 30.

All prosecution witnesses testified Girard, or a soldier resembling him, shouted "Get out!" or "Get out of here!" that day when Mrs. Naka Sakai was killed.

The Ottawa, Ill., soldier is accused of firing her closer then firing a fatal shot from his rifle grenade launcher.

Girard's defense lawyer had intended to use the warning shouts to bolster his contention that Girard was shooting away, not enticing, shell collectors.

Judge Yuza Kawachi asked Girard whether he said "Get out!" or "Get out of here." Girard replied: "No, sir."

"Girard told the truth as he knows it," Maj. Stanley Levin, Girard's army legal adviser, said later.

Isuro Hayashi, Girard's Japanese lawyer, said irritably: "I'm not ordering Girard how to testify. . . . However, I had believed those witnesses who heard 'Get out of here.'"

Girard also said he had not heard his only companion, Specialist 3.C. Victor Nickel, Inkster, Mich., shout such a warning.

Girard returned to the stand in his manslaughter trial after a 29-year-old illiterate farmer told of seeing an American soldier scatter empty cartridges on the ground then fire twice.

Defense attorneys then began an attack on the practice of scavenging scrap metal on firing ranges. They drew an admission from the witness that it is dangerous.

Kuji Sakai, the farmer, did not identify Girard by name, but said the shots were fired by the "smaller, shorter one . . . the light complexioned one."

Underwriters To Hold First Meet of Year

The Sedalia Association of Life Underwriters will hold its first meeting of the 1957-58 year Friday at the Pacific Cafe, it was announced here today by Bill Hopkins, president of the organization. The meeting will be a noon-luncheon.

Hopkins points out that all insurance agents in a four-county area, including Pettis, Henry, Johnson, and Saline counties, who represent some legal life insurance company, are eligible for membership. He adds that although an insurance agent is principally involved in writing casualty and fire business, yet licensed in some life insurance company, the local organization of Life Underwriters offers membership to that person as well.

The general purpose of the establishment of the local association is to help further the professionalization of life insurance agents. Other objects are to work towards legislation for the betterment of insurance laws and requirements, to closely follow the ethical standards of those in the insurance business, and to encourage closer relations between representatives of all companies.

At the meeting Friday, awards will be presented to life insurance agents who recently completed the advanced Life Underwriters Course, consisting of 26 weeks of weekly sessions at the Sedalia Public Library. Plans will also be laid for the coming year, along with the discussion of current problems in the life insurance field. Life insurance agents from the Prudential Company, who will be attending a central Missouri district conference, will attend the meeting Friday.

Nationalists Say Red China Has Unrest

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Nationalist China told the United Nations today the Red mainland is gripped by unrest that may flare into a revolt like the Hungarian uprising. The Communist regime was described as shaky.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the 82-nation General Assembly, China's Hu Shih declared events in Hungary touched off two major anti-Communist movements on the mainland in the past few months.

One movement led by student groups nearly resulted in paralyzing Peiping and Shanghai with a general strike, he said, but Red authorities were tipped off and checked it by arresting ringleaders.

"It is absolutely untrue that the Communist regime in China has won over the mind and the heart of the young," Hu declared.

"What happened in Hungary last October has proven beyond doubt that the young students and workers of Hungary have not been captivated by fully 10 years of Communist rule and indoctrination."

Recent events, he added, prove that "after eight years of absolute rule and ideological molding, the students in China are almost unanimously in opposition to the Communist party and government."

Hu said the Hungarian uprising has had a profound effect on the Chinese people as a whole.

Hu gave this account of recent events on the mainland:

An anti-Red movement erupted last June among five million students in schools and universities throughout the mainland.

Within a week, the movement threatened to develop into a violent uprising and Red authorities took repressive steps in all the schools and colleges. Ringleaders were arrested and rallies banned.

Despite repressive measures, student rioting broke out in the central Chinese city of Hanyang. Nearly 1,000 youths surged through the streets shouting anti-Communist slogans and waving banners. Students, teachers and school officials were rounded up and arrested.

Peiping authorities kept news of the Yangtze riots secret for nearly two months, when news finally leaked out.

The other major movement, was Mao Tse-tung's decision to let "a hundred flowers blossom and a hundred schools of thought contend."

This freedom of expression lasted for about a month. Then the Red leaders became alarmed over the swelling tide of criticism and clamped down again.

Ralph Dow to Speak At Jaycee Meeting

Ralph Dow, football coach at Smith-Cotton, will speak at the regular meeting of the Jaycees tonight at the Pacific Cafe. His subject will be new football rules and prospects for the season.

The Rev. D. Warren Neal, pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian Church in Sedalia will officiate.

Miss Mary Hogan will play instrumental numbers at the piano for the service.

The body is at the family home. Burial will be in the Knob Nosh Cemetery.

Mrs. John J. Schuber Rites

Funeral rites for Mrs. John J. (Julia) Schuber, 307 East Fourth, who died at the Bothwell Hospital Monday, were held at St. Patrick's Catholic Church at 9 a.m. Thursday.

Palbearers were Charles Weller, Sr., Shirley Bishop, Fred Kuhlman, Lawrence Mehl, Malachi O'Brien and John Atkinson.

Dan Meyer Rites

Funeral services for Dan Meyer, 71, of Boonville, who died Tuesday at the home in Boonville, were held at 2:30 p.m. Thursday at the Peninsula Baptist Church with the Rev. Wilcox officiating.

Palbearers were six grandsons. Burial was in the Peninsula Baptist Church Cemetery.

Hammarskjold Sure Of Another Five-Year Term as UN Secretary

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold was assured today of another five-year term.

The Security Council unanimously recommended appointment of the 52-year-old Swedish diplomat, and the General Assembly was expected to give final approval later today.

Hammarskjold had no competitors for the job, which pays $40,000 a year plus $15,000 allowances, all tax free. He had support of both the United States and the Soviet Union. His current term expires next April.

Hammarskjold was elected first in 1953, succeeding Trygve Lie of Norway. High points in his first term include his flight to Peiping on behalf of imprisoned U.S. fliers and his role in the Middle East crisis.

Airport

Inasmuch as the federal government also has a stake in the present field in matching funds.

The engineer recommended the construction of modern, fireproof "T" hangars on the field to house local planes and transient planes. It was pointed out that in the past two months, since landing lights have been installed, Sedalia has again become a principal stopping point for cross-country fliers.

At the meeting of the board, the members went on record requesting Mayor Julian H. Bagby to request the Civil Aeronautics Administration to accept the newly drafted master plan, replacing the original plan, the board's contention being the change is more practical and eventually will lead to a safer landing field.

Among the changes is the location of the Capt. Tom Wilson Memorial Building, of the civil Air Patrol. The building will be located about 60 feet south of the present hangar, with a proposed larger hangar being located south of that. The individual, or "T", hangars have been switched to east of the present entrance drive, instead of stringing out northward from the administration building.

There are a few minor recommendations for improvements such as extension of the ramp across the large hangar areas, and a taxi strip from the proposed main strip across to the administration building apron.

There is no definite plan as to the expenditures to be made on the airport or as to the financial agreement for federal aid at this time.

The change is not merely to get the airport plan in readiness if and when the need for expansion comes, but also to make it possible for the grading of the north-south runway which at the present time will be used. This will be put to use immediately for the lighter planes.

Woman Is Assistant Chief Clerk In Local MPS Office

Miss Georgia Giokaris at Missouri Public Service

This is the story of Miss Georgia Giokaris, treasurer of the Business and Professional Women's Club, but it is hard to think of Georgia without thinking of her sister, Helen, also a BPW member. They go together like peaches and cream.

Georgia is assistant to the chief clerk at Missouri Public Service. She went to work there 14 years ago when J. C. Griffin was looking for girls because Uncle Sam was taking all his boys. Georgia started upstairs at the switchboard, along with doing secretarial work. Then she went downstairs to the book-keeping department, where she did general bookkeeping and was billing clerk. In 1949 she was put on the job as assistant to the chief clerk, and the chief clerk is the same young man whose job she was temporarily hired for when Uncle Sam took him into service. But the job wasn't temporary after all; he came back and she just stayed on, too.

Her job as assistant to the chief clerk consists of accounting, payroll, customer bookkeeping, clearing all turn-on and shut-off orders, approving merchandise sales—and answering questions. Sometimes it seems there are days when she does nothing but answer questions, but it's all right as long as she knows all the answers.

She has direct contact with all new building, industry and new families moving into Sedalia. Often this office is the new person's first step in Sedalia, and Georgia says she enjoys her work very much.

Georgia was born in Sedalia and was graduated from Smith-Cotton High School. She lives at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Giokaris, at 1201 South Main, her sister, Helen, and her brother, Mike, who also is with the Missouri Public Service. Helen went a little astray from Missouri Public Service. She is with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. Georgia started out her business career at a pretty early age and in approximately the same location she is now. Her dad was in the restaurant business and had the Evereet Cafe about next door or second door to where the Missouri Public Service is now. Of course, Georgia helped her dad.

For a couple of years, then, she worked at Montgomery Ward and Company, and then went to the Missouri Public Service.

Her hobby is bowling. She has held an office in the Business Women's Bowling League and also is an excellent bowler, too, so her bowling team friends say and has won several championship contests in the City Association.

First Six Months Of 1957 Indicate Record Crimes in US

WASHINGTON, P. — Based on figures for the first six months, the United States is headed for growing flowers. She says she has no green thumb, but then she wouldn't admit that she was a good bowler, either.

Georgia has been a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club for five years and during that time has been a committee chairman, editor of Busy Lizzie, the BPW publication, co-social chairman and is now treasurer.

She attends Calvary Episcopal Church but her membership is in the Greek Orthodox Church in Kansas City.

THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT—Sedalia, Mo., Thurs., Sept. 26, 1957 11

another record number of crimes this year.

The figure was 8.4 per cent above that for the first six months estimated yesterday that 1,399,670 of 1956, and 24.4 per cent over the major crimes were committed average for the previous five through June 30, or one for each year.

Buhl Ignored Despite His Fine Record

MILWAUKEE — Baseball buffs, doting on the world series winners, have concluded that only two Milwaukee pitchers—Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette—can beat the New York Yankees.

For some reason, these dopsters completely ignore Bob Buhl, whose 18-7 record establishes him as the Braves' most formidable right-hander.

"Buhl will never beat the Yankees," they avow. "He is strictly a fast ball pitcher and the Yankees murder the fast ball."

Buhl admits this sort of reasoning has left him somewhat confused.

"Everyone has a right to his opinion," said the tall, trim native of Saginaw, Mich., before venturing out for his 19th victory in the Braves' final meeting with St. Louis. "But I can't for the life of me see how they have arrived at their conclusion."

"First of all, I'm not strictly a fast ball pitcher. I think I have a pretty good variety of pitches. I throw a curve, a slider and this year I have added what I think is a good change-up. It has made me a better pitcher. I also take a little bit of sometimes on my curve and slider. That constitutes a good assortment of pitches."

Buhl acknowledged that the secret scouting reports made available to the Braves disclose that the Yankees, as a whole, are notorious fast ball hitters. But, he added, this knowledge hasn't fazed him a bit.

"Admitted that the Yankees hit fast ball pitching pretty good," he declared. "So what does that prove? Brooklyn is a fast ball hitting team too. I beat the Dodgers four times this year. They beat me once, by a 2-1 score. Last year I beat the Dodgers eight times. And I don't think the Yankees are a harder hitting team than the Dodgers of 1956."

Buhl failed in his attempt to win his 19th, as the Cards defeated the Braves 4-1 to snap their eight-game winning streak. The defeat dimmed his hopes of registering his first 20-game season.

Cardinals Grab Consolation Prizes With Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fred Hutchinson's battling St. Louis Cardinals grabbed three consolation prizes with a 4-1 victory over Milwaukee's National League champs yesterday.

The Red Bires clinched second place, veteran star Stan Musial clinched his seventh league batting championship and the Cards finished with a 6-5 edge over the Braves in Milwaukee.

Musial ignited a four-run eighth inning with a game-tying pinch single. This raised his batting average to .351, 18 points ahead of Willie Mays of the New York Giants, who has only two games to play.

Hutchinson's crew now has an 87-64 record and needs a sweep over the Chicago Cubs to reach the 90 mark in victories.

Musial battled for Lindy McDaniel, who deservedly was credited with his 15th victory against 9 defeats.

Bob Buhl was turned back in a bid for his 19th victory.

At Kansas City, the A's blasted four home runs but Cleveland countered with six over the fence, two by Vic Wertz for a 9-7 victory. The A's still need one victory to clinch seventh place. They finished last a year ago.

The two-club total of 10 homers was just one short of the major league record.

Woody Held also hit two home runs for Kansas City. Billy Martin and Vic Power had one each. Besides Wertz, Dick Williams, Roger Maris, Dick Brown and Rocky Colavito homered for the Indians.

Durrelle Wins 10-Round Bout

DETROIT — German heavyweight Willi Besmanoff says he is sure of two things after losing a unanimous decision to Yvon Durrelle: that he must learn more about the way boxing matches are scored in this country and that Durrelle would not last five rounds with Archie Moore.

Durrelle's 10-round victory last night did little to enhance his chances for a title match against Moore.

Moore himself suggested the match after he knocked out Tony Anthony last week. Anthony and Durrelle battled to a draw here last summer.

Besmanoff, at 189 pounds, spotted the British Empire light heavyweight champion nearly 12 pounds but was content to box instead of punch until the last couple of rounds.

"I made him miss all night and I outboxed him," said Besmanoff, who lost his third bout in five tries since beginning his American campaign early this year. "But that is not enough in this country, I guess. In Europe, the better boxer gets the points."

Trainer Jimmy August said, "Willi kicked the fight away."

Sidekick Has Old Routine Thrown Out

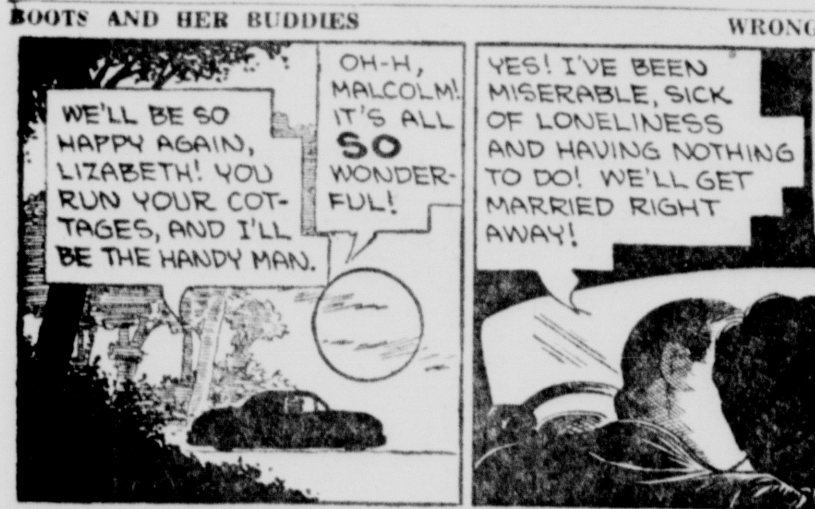

By HAL MC CLURE
HOLLYWOOD — That venerable veteran of the horse opera, the comic sidekick, has apparently ridden his bulky mate into the sunset for the last time.
For now there's a new breed of sidekick on TV—serious, more intelligent and helpful.
The Wyatt Earps, Matt Dillons and assorted riders of the range now are virtually assured of a little support when they go after villains.
Not that comedy has disappeared. It's just a little more tame than in the days when Gabby Hayes, Smiley Burnette, Roscoe Ates, Fuzzy Knight or Al St. John rode the trail.
"Sure Western comedy has changed," says 30-year-old Dennis Weaver, the sober sidekick to James Arness in "Gunsmoke." "But drama itself has progressed from the old pie-throwing days." As Chester, Matt Dillon's lame deputy, Weaver speaks "pure Oklahoma County, Oklahoma" which he picked up from a college buddy at the University of Oklahoma.

"No, I don't really limp," he says, "but fans often write—even from England where I understand the show is very popular—asking about my bad leg."
Traditionally, Weaver observes, sidekicks have been older men, not expected to shine at the show-down. The limp serves the purpose of "allowing the lead character, Marshall Dillon to take complete charge of the situation."
Mason Alan Dinehart III, 20 years-old, is another TV sidekick. The son of the late Alan Dinehart, longtime Hollywood and Broadway actor, Mason plays Bat Masterson, Wyatt Earp's problem pal on TV.
Dinehart looked so young that he had to wear a moustache and sideburns to age him a mite.
Almost barking to the past are the comic relief men of the Roy Rogers, Gene Autry and Wild Bill Hickok shows.

Tanglenook 4-H Has Achievement Day

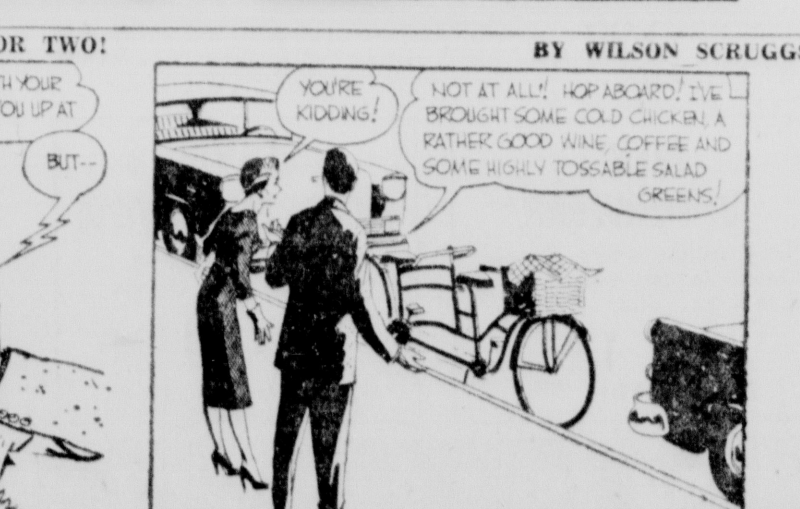

Tanglenook 4-H'ers held achievement day Sept. 17 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Reine.
Delta Reine conducted the business meeting. Gifts were presented to the community and project leaders. A dress revue was given with Mrs. Lewis Hammond Jr. as narrator.
Games were played after the business meeting. Refreshments were served to 30 parents, leaders and 4-H members. Mrs. Harvey Ream and son were guests. The girls of food preparation class served.
Officers will be elected at the October meeting.

Oysters are good to eat any time of the year, but they are faster and more palatable during the so-called "R" months.

Natalie, Bob Provide New Film Romance

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — Hollywood's No. 1 romance of the moment concerns the 1957 version of flaming youth, Natalie Wood and Robert Wagner.
It's enough to make a fan magazine editor coo with delight. Natalie is to the present generation what Joan Crawford and Lana Turner were to previous ones, and Bob, a longtime darling of the younger set.
When Natalie had to go to the Adirondacks for "locations" for "Marjorie Morningstar," Bob was there and present on the set every day.
Love?
Natalie declines comment. She learned with Elvis Presley, it is difficult to carry on a romance in public.
"There never was anything between Elvis and me," she said. "How could there be? We never had enough time alone."
"My biggest mistake was going to visit him at his home in Memphis. I didn't realize people would make such a circus out of it."
Instead of riding Presley's motorcycle, she is now sailing on Wagner's yacht.
She said they first met when both were under contract to 20th Century-Fox. They didn't have romance in mind then. She was a child actress of 9. He was a teenager.
Now she's 19, he's 27. They have been dating since last December.
Meanwhile, Natalie's career has been booming. Her biggest break to date is "Marjorie Morningstar," the Herman Wouk best-seller, which provides one of the plum roles of the year.
"We tested 20 girls for the role and considered hundreds," said producer Milton Sperling. "Among those under consideration were Elizabeth Taylor, Audrey Hepburn, Claire Bloom and other names."
"I chose Natalie because she did a sensational test. I think this picture will establish her as a big star."

Mrs. Anderson Reviews Book for Homemakers

Mrs. Albert Anderson reviewed the book, "As Love Knows How" at the September meeting of Hopewell Homemakers Extension Club. Mrs. Maggie Payne was hostess.
The meeting opened with the devotional given by Mrs. Maggie Payne. Ten members answered roll call with the lesson I enjoyed most in club. Mrs. James Hieronymus read the news letter from Mrs. Kathryn Zimmerman. The council meeting held in Sedalia was discussed by Mrs. Charles Blacklock and Mrs. H. H. Nutt. Collections for "Pennies for Friendship" and Associated Country Women of the World were taken. Mrs. Charles Blacklock gave the history of the Campbell Harrison Fund. Mrs. Blacklock also reported on "W.S. of America".
Achievement day was discussed and a committee was named to see about a display for the day.
Mrs. Albert Anderson led in playing a game with the prize going to Mrs. Charles Blacklock.
Mrs. Richard Baker, Michelle and Neal, Mrs. Charles Hieronymus and Mrs. John Newland were guests.
The next meeting will be Oct. 10 with Mrs. Charles Blacklock.

Members Assist In Presenting Program

Mrs. Oscar Hughes entertained the Edwards Circle of Versailles Presbyterian Church. The devotional was given by Mrs. Ira Wilson. Mrs. James McClymont gave the topic, "Conversations on Christ" assisted by Mrs. D. G. Hubbard. Mrs. J. L. Washburn gave the topic, "Brotherhood and Race" during the study hour.

16 Aircraft Land at Sedalia Field in Month

Sixteen out-of-town aircraft landed at the Sedalia Memorial Airport during the first part of September. Charles T. Riedsoph, president of Precision Engineering, and H. F. Downs, another official of the firm, arrived by air on Sept. 16. Precision Engineering is the firm that is to locate on the new industrial site on west Highway 50.
Among others who landed at the airport were four student pilots on cross-country flights. Another visitor was the operator of an airfield in Ely, Nev., enroute to Augusta, Ga. One sight-seeing trip was also recorded in the airport log.

The Sedalia airport was a stopping point for an air race which started in St. Louis and ended there during the month of August. First three-place winners out of the 27 entered were Burton Duenke, Robert Mueller, and Paul Clark.

Mint Sherbet Low In Calories

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Victorian menus featured fruit sherbets in both cold and hot weather and served them not only for dessert but as an accompaniment to poultry or meat.

If you're interested in reviving this pleasant custom, here's a sherbet that's fine for all-year-round use because it's made from pantry shelf ingredients. Flavored with pineapple and mint, it's delightful with roast lamb. Serve it this way some Sunday when all the family's home and a few guests have been invited for dinner. The ice may be spooned into sherbet glasses and placed at the head of each place setting. Or it may be turned into small paper cups and put right on the dinner plates.

As a dessert, this sherbet is just dandy for weight-watchers. It rings up only 104 calories per half-cup serving, due in part to the fact that it is made with nonfat dry milk. The instant variety of this milk mixes immediately in ice water and is used in many families where both weight-watching or economy—or both—have to be taken into consideration.

PINEAPPLE MINT SHERBET
Ingredients: 3 cups liquefied instant nonfat dry milk, 1 envelope unflavored gelatin, ½ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon peppermint extract, ¼ cup well drained crushed pineapple, green food coloring.

Method: Set refrigerator control at coldest point. Pour liquefied instant nonfat dry milk into top of double boiler; add gelatin and allow to soften. Add sugar. Place over hot water; stir until sugar and gelatin are dissolved. Remove from heat; add peppermint extract and pineapple; stir to mix. Tint mixture pale green with food coloring. Pour into refrigerator freezing tray; cover with waxed paper. Place in freezing unit until mixture is a firm mush (about 1 hour). Turn into chilled bowl and beat with rotary beater (hand or electric) until fluffy. Quickly return to freezing tray and cover with waxed paper. Return to freezing unit and freeze until firm, about 2 hours. Makes eight ½ cup servings.

REFRESHING PINEAPPLE MINT SHERBET: Versatile as a dessert or a meat accompaniment.

Motorists Are Observing The New Speed Law

Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol, today expressed gratification that in general Missouri motorists have been most diligent in observing the new state speed law that went into effect August 29th.

However, Col. Waggoner stated: "This is no time to relax safe driving habits."

Col. Waggoner compared the present good record to a winning baseball team in a hot pennant race.

A good manager is ever on the alert for any sign of weakness in his team and ready to send in a replacement for any faltering player. He is also quick to notice any weakness in the opposing team and ready to take advantage of it.

The safe driver, like the good team manager, must be alert to any weakness in the machine he is operating and be ready to quickly have the weakened, worn or defective part repaired or replaced.

He must also be aware of any weakness in the other drivers' ability to operate his machine properly and by his own safe-driving avoid uncalculated accidents.

About Town

Mrs. Ollie Mines, 1212 East Broadway, Mr. and Mrs. John Kuhl, 1400 East Broadway, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Egbert of Sioux City, Ia., have returned to their homes following a visit in Ft. Worth, Tex., with Mrs. Mines' daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hillard Tuckley, Mr. and Mrs. Tuckley formerly lived at Dumceton.

Pfc. Shirley J. Dumsday, WAC, stationed at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., who spent the past 15 days on leave with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dumsday, 703 East 13th, was to leave Thursday for that place to report back to duty.

Mr. and Mrs. David J. Kelly of Philadelphia, Pa., are here for a visit with Dr. and Mrs. M. E. Gouge, 810 South Carr. Mrs. Kelly is the former Mary Lou Mitchell and the daughter of Mrs. Gouge.

Even though we are showing improvement the colonel said, there is no time to relax, as we are still far behind some states in our fatality rate per driven mile.

Sedalians Will Attend Meeting In Los Angeles

Vernon F. Rodick, president, Ray E. Rodick, vice-president, and George Schlosser, sales manager, all of National Engineering and Manufacturing Co., will attend the second annual meeting of Air Conditioning Institute in Los Angeles Thursday and Friday. The meeting will be held at the Ambassador Hotel.

Air Conditioning Institute is the national trade association of evaporative cooler manufacturers organized two years ago to promote the use of the economical evaporative cooling appliance that has become so very popular in the western and southwestern sections of the United States. Encouragement of the improvement of cooler design and performance together with the development of the science and art of engineering as related to comfort cooling are also high on the list of purposes of the institute.

Vernon Rodick, local civic leader, is a member of the board of directors and secretary of the institute. He is also chairman of the traffic committee. Ray Rodick is a member of the important engineering standards committee. The Rodick brothers' wives will accompany them to the meeting.

National Engineering and Manufacturing Co. is a charter member of the Air Conditioning Institute.

Children's Society Will Hold Meeting

The Missouri Society for Crippled Children and Adults will hold its 30th annual meeting in Springfield, Oct. 18-19, at the Kentwood Arms Hotel. The Greene County Society for Crippled Children and Adults is the host, headed by Mrs. Jewel Windle, president and convention chairman.

The Expanding Little Red School House will be featured with some of Missouri's outstanding educational leaders on the program. Among those who will speak are: Willard J. Graf, superintendent of Springfield schools; Hubert Wheeler, Missouri State Commissioner of Education; and Roy Patton, director of the "Crossroads" rehabilitation center.

A large number of county representatives, friends and co-workers are expected to attend this conference, which will include a tour of the Southwest Rehabilitation Center, a workshop on Easter Seal planning and demonstrations of educational services for home-bound children.

The traditional president's dinner features Dr. Donald Rose, president of the American Congress of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation. Dr. Rose is from the Medical Center, Kansas University.

At Southwest College

On Sept. 12, Patricia Ann Lane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd M. Lane, 223 East Boonville, enrolled as a freshman in Southwest Baptist College, Bolivar. Patricia's chief interest lies in the field of teaching. While at Southwest Baptist College she will complete the basic requirements for her teaching training.

Completes Telephone Installation School

Pvt. Homer D. Edwards, son of Mrs. Goldia O. Edwards, 2509 East Broadway, completed the eight-week telephone installation and repair course Sept. 20 at the Army's Southeastern Signal School, Ft. Gordon, Ga.

He entered the Army in January, 1957, and completed basic training at Ft. Carson, Colo.

Edwards is a 1956 graduate of Smith-Cotton High School. Before entering the Army he was employed by the Jolly Welding Shop.

WHAT VITAMIN B₁₂ DOES FOR CHILDREN

Vitamin B₁₂ is essential for growth. Helps convert food into energy. And is necessary for normal functioning of the nervous system.

Also, Vitamin B₁₂ is vital to good appetite, normal food digestion and the proper functioning of the cardiovascular system.

THE WONDER 12

Phosphorus

Contains 12 Food Elements Absolutely Essential For Growth And Health

For normal physical and mental development, children must have a well-balanced diet of protein, fat, carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals, such as in meats, milk, eggs, fruit, green-leafed and yellow vegetables.

Wonder Bread helps supply your child with protein for growth, carbohydrates for energy and many vitamins and minerals for normal development.

12 Ways To Grow
This does not suggest that Wonder Bread take the place of other foods. Or that your child is deficient in any of these elements, particularly cobalt, copper, zinc and manganese. However, Wonder Bread does contain 12 food elements important in nutrition.

Thus, you can help your child 12 ways.

This suggests that you do 3 things:

(1) Start your child eating 8 slices of Wonder Bread today.

(2) Measure your child's height and weigh him today.

(3) See how height and weight increase in 3 months; 6 months; each year.

Fresh And Tender
Children love fresh Wonder Bread.

Because it has a tender texture and crust. And—makes perfect toast.

Scientist Blames Scientists

KENT, Ohio (U.P.)—A Kent State professor says scientists themselves are partly responsible for the small number of young people attracted to careers in science.

Dr. Ralph W. Dexter, a biological researcher, says "in spite of the role that science has played in developing modern civilization, the public has little knowledge and little appreciation of science and scientists."

He says scientists themselves could improve the situation "by giving more attention to social issues. A more sympathetic press and a more sympathetic public could do much to correct unfavorable impressions."

Sauerbraten Is a Zesty Meat Dish

SAUERBRATEN OVER EGG NOODLES: A hearty contribution from the German cuisine.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Cooks of German background long ago introduced Americans to the delicious and hearty meat dish called Sauerbraten — beef marinated in spiced vinegar, then cooked on top of the range and served with gingersnap-flavored gravy. Now this cosmopolitan version of pot roast is often sought after here. Although Sauerbraten is usually accompanied by potato pancakes, you might like to save yourself the chore of preparing them and serve egg noodles instead. Noodles are so much a part of the German cuisine that you needn't feel you are going too far afield in offering them.

When we served Sauerbraten, made from the following recipe, to some old devotees of this dish they gave it high praise. You'll have to begin your marinating preparations a couple of days before you cook the meat, so plan accordingly.

Sauerbraten With Noodles

INGREDIENTS: 2 cups vinegar, 1 cup of water, 3 medium-sized onions (thinly sliced), 2 tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon peppercorns, ½ teaspoon whole cloves, 4 bay leaves, 2 teaspoons salt, 1½ teaspoons dry mustard, 4 pounds boneless beef rump, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ cup salad oil, 1/3 cup finely crushed gingersnap crumbs.

METHOD: Mix together well the vinegar, water, sliced onions, sugar, peppercorns, whole cloves, bay leaves, 2 teaspoons salt and mustard. Pour over meat in a non-metallic container; cover. Chill for 2 days, turning meat each day. Drain meat and wipe dry; strain marinade mixture and reserve. Mix together the one tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper; rub this mixture into the meat. Heat oil in kettle; add meat and brown on all sides. Add ¾ cup of the marinade mixture. Cover and cook over low heat 3½ to 4 hours or until meat is tender when center is pierced with a long fork, turn meat occasionally as it cooks. Remove meat; add gingersnap crumbs and marinade mixture (to taste) to drippings in kettle. Cook and stir constantly until blended; strain. Because the amount of meat drippings will vary, you may have to correct this gravy by adding water or stock, more gingersnap crumbs or marinade mixture, or by thickening it with a little flour. Slice meat thin and reheat it in the gravy. Makes 8 servings. The first few slices of beef on either side will be less firm than the remaining slices.

NOTE: You'll need 8 or 9 gingersnap crumbs that are 1½ inches wide to make ¼ cup fine crumbs.

Noodles: Use 1 pound (about 8 cups) medium egg noodles and add gradually to 4 to 6 quarts of boiling water and 2 tablespoons of salt, so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Serve noodles with the Sauerbraten.

SKUNKED AGAIN — A grim-looking shoe shine boy leaves the American Legion National Convention Color Guard contest at Municipal Airport in Atlantic City, after being ordered from the field for interfering with the participants. However, it might have been that the policeman who ejected him got a whiff of the pet skunk the youngster is cradling under his right arm.

Sprawling City of Mystery Has Collection of Exiles

By Wilton Wynn

CAIRO — This sprawling city of intrigue and mystery has a strange collection of exiles, each of them dreaming of that special assassination, revolution or coup d'etat which will pave the way for their return home.

Emir Abdel Krim el Khatib, Moroccan rebel leader, is whiling away the twilight years of his life in the spacious gardens of a villa. Grizzled and squint-eyed, he still wears the white cloak, turban, and pointed leather slippers characteristic of the Rif where he gained fame as a desert warrior a generation ago. He is 73.

The French sent Abdel Krim into exile when his rebellion was crushed in the early 20s. He likes to pore over maps of North Africa and trace the fighting between Algerians and French. He draws up battle plans and relives the days when his desert fighters held at bay the armies of France and Spain.

But he has become a sort of toothless bulldog. He long ago broke with the North African Liberation Committee, the group which won independence for Tunisia and Morocco and now is directing the fight in Algeria.

The mufti has no patience with talk of implementing United Nations resolutions on Palestine or any other compromise of any kind with Israel. Haj Amin wants all Palestine united as an Arab state, and nothing less. He is a bitter enemy of Jordan's King Hussein and is barred from that Arab state. In 1951, one of the mufti's relatives was hanged for the murder of Hussein's grandfather, King Abdullah.

After the 1948 Palestine war the mufti lost much of his following. He hasn't seen Palestine since he fled from British authorities during the Arab revolt of the late 30s. He sat out World War II with Hitler in Germany, then wound up in forced residence in France after the war. He showed up one night in the summer of 1946 in the palace of King Farouk, claiming asylum in Egypt.

Three young Jordanians from the old Arab Legion form another sector of the exile population in Cairo. Col. Abdullah Tel was convicted of complicity in the murder of King Abdullah in 1951 and was sentenced to death in absentia. Tel already was in exile in Cairo. In 1949 he concluded his government was trying to make peace with Israel. He then came to Cairo to ask political asylum.

His two comrades here are Maj. Gens. Ali Abu Nuewar and Ali Hayari, who in rapid succession were chiefs of staff of the Jordan army. Both fled Jordan last April and have since been accused of complicity in a plot to assassinate King Hussein.

An enemy of the pro-Western regime in Iraq, Rashid Ali Gailani, also keeps his headquarters in Cairo. Rashid Ali almost brought the Axis powers into the Arab world in 1941, when he took over the Iraqi government in a pro-Fascist revolution.

Algerian rebel leaders keep an office here headed by Tewfik Medani. There also is a rebel Tunisian faction, headed by Saleh ben Youssef, which hates the newly independent Tunisian regime of Habib Bourguiba as much as it does the French.

Why do these exiles gather in Cairo? For one thing, Cairo is the headquarters of the Arab world, with the Arab league centered here. Also, the Cairo press of Hussein's grandfather, King Abdullah.

After the 1948 Palestine war the mufti lost much of his following. He hasn't seen Palestine since he fled from British authorities during the Arab revolt of the late 30s. He sat out World War II with Hitler in Germany, then wound up

How To Win Customers

A beautiful colonial farm home, a bright red barn and a sign, "Home Made Bread," stopped a traveler going through the tiny town of Riverton along the Farmington river in Connecticut.

Buying the bread made conversation. The owner told the story of starting out as a shipping clerk 35 years ago, how he built a successful career as insurance salesman. Now in retirement, he sells bread which is not baked on the premises but by a half dozen expert bakers in the surrounding area. Every customer is invited to have a taste of a variety of the delectable stuff before purchase. The loaves are long and heavy.

After much talk about cooking, farming, insurance and retirement the proprietor wraps up three loaves for the customer and collects $2.25. And the latter pays cheerfully.

The incident is illustrative of a principle sometimes overlooked or ignored in the business world—people like to be treated with courtesy and friendliness. Without it the consequences can be costly.

U.S. 6th Fleet Is Stabilizing Influence

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is reporting from the Eastern Mediterranean.)

By DREW PEARSON

ABOARD THE USS SALEM, FLAGSHIP 6TH FLEET, SEPT. 25—There was a day, shortly after the first Bikini bomb test, when the strategists figured that navies were outdated and that Uncle Sam's fleet would sail the seven seas to peace.

Today just the opposite is true. With Moscow well ahead of the British as the second navy in the world and with a submarine fleet far bigger than ours, the U.S. Navy has become more important than ever.

Flying over the 6th Fleet, fanned out in the blue waters of the Mediterranean, watching both fighters and bombers take off from the deck of the Franklin Roosevelt every few minutes in practice maneuvers toward satellite countries, you get a sense of security and can understand why our Mediterranean allies appreciate its presence.

Various Greek, Turkish and Israeli officials expressed to me their satisfaction over the 6th Fleet. The governor of Rhodes even remarked that two visits per year by part of the fleet balanced the island's economy. In Athens, I noted that the arrival of seven American ships was greeted enthusiastically.

Marines By Helicopter

To see how the fleet really operates, however, I flew first aboard the carrier Roosevelt, then the flagship USS Salem, 21,000-ton cruiser which juts up out of the Mediterranean like a traveling rock of Gibraltar.

The fleet's personnel were busy preparing for a unique and highly important NATO maneuver on the Turkish coast—namely, the Marine landing by both helicopter and small boat.

For this maneuver, NATO commanders picked Saros Bay, a thin finger of water in European Turkey just a few miles from Greece.

This is one of the most strategic spots in the world. Directly across to the south is the Dardanelles, whose beaches still bear the bleached bones of British ships, remnants of Churchill's and Lord Kitchener's tragic Gallipoli landing where thousands of British troops lost their lives trying to storm Turkey in World War I.

A few miles away to the north, Alexander the Great marched his legions to conquer the Persians. Further south the crusaders from France and England stormed the Moslem shores in a 100-year effort to take the holy places of Christ away from the infidels.

This is the crossroads of east and west. It is the crossroads which Russia must know to dominate the Mediterranean, which the U.S. covets for a hundred years and which present rulers of the Kremlin not only covet but seem determined to dominate.

Already the Soviet has three potential submarine bases—Albania, Egypt, and Syria—and the fleet recently sighted a Russian cruiser-destroyer force en route from Albania to Syria. When hailed by the Salem, the Russian ships didn't return the courtesy of the sea. Three Russian subs, attached to the Egyptian fleet, are one more than the subs in the 6th Fleet.

Further north, in the Black Sea, Russia has three times the naval strength of the 6th Fleet. Just why she keeps it bottled in the Black Sea remains a mystery.

Janes "Fighting Ships" also lists Russia as

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR: But Maybe Elephants. After the San Francisco fire and earthquake of 1906 the Post Office Department stretched its regulations to allow messages to be carried out written on shingles, bricks, and strips of wallpaper—postage waived.

The now-thriving town of Vernal, Utah (population 2,119), is said to have built its first modern business block some three decades ago out of bricks mailed in by parcel post.

It remained, however, for that remarkable postal system of Britain to send by mail a pony with 84 cents' worth of stamps affixed to his flank. And for that equally remarkable species, the British postmaster, to walk the pony five miles to the addressee in order to save the sender the almost five dollars more it would have cost him had it been transported by truck.

"A lovely day for a walk," commented Postmaster George Smith, "but (and we echo him sympathetically) I hope nobody gets the idea of mailing an elephant."

"Neither snow, nor rain, nor gloom of night . . ."

Easy to Spot Trouble Symptoms

What Will Happen in the Middle East?

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—What, if anything, is going to blow up in the Middle East?

It is easy to spot symptoms of trouble. It is less easy to be sure of your diagnosis.

Syria cancels officers' leaves. Jordan reinforces its patrols on the Syrian border. Israel fears new armed pressure from its Arab neighbors. Turkey wonders uneasily if it's being caught in a Communist nutcracker.

These are only a few of the symptoms. They all tie in with the contest between the United States and the Soviet Union for top position in what President Eisenhower has called the most "strategically important area in the world."

This country was there first, more or less taking over from the British when they had to reduce their overseas commitments. Later the Russians have been moving in. They make no secret of their intention to stay in.

First Egypt veered toward the Red magnet. Later Syria and relatively unimportant Yemen moved in that direction. Syria is the most obvious potential source of future trouble. It has been granted a big, low-interest Russian loan. It is being supplied with Soviet arms. Its army has been taken over by supposedly pro-leftist elements.

To illustrate the temper of the region: Egypt and Syria for months have poured scathing propaganda against non-to-stable, pro-Western Jordan. Jordan finally, in the past few days, has started hitting back. It has accused Syria of inciting the Jordan people to revolt.

It is possible for an onlooker to hear the rattle of gunfire right over the horizon. And he would get small reassurance from either Washington or Moscow. Secretary of State Dulles tells the Russians they are up to "risky business" in the Middle East. Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko accuses the West of turning the region into "a permanent hotbed of military conflicts."

Some calming voices have been heard. One, rather oddly, in the White House lobby. A barnoused visitor to President Eisenhower this week, Crown Prince Faisal of Saudi Arabia, said in effect that there's really nothing to get excited about.

"There is no danger," said the prince, who is his country's prime minister and foreign minister. "There is no Arab country which will endanger the security of any other Arab country."

This attitude—whether justified by the facts or not—help explain why the Arab world in general viewed with disfavor this country's well-publicized shipment of arms to Jordan after the Syrian army shakeup. The attitude seems to be: thanks, but we really can manage our own affairs.

Maybe so. But even in this era of rampant Arab nationalism affairs aren't always in the hands of the Arabs, particularly when they get cozy with the Soviet Union.

Your Child's Health

Children of Divorce Start With Handicap

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

Children of divorce have one strike against them before they start.

Every child needs two parents. Divorce or separation of the parents has an even worse effect than loss of a parent by death. Those who are emotionally disturbed are more likely to develop stomach ulcers, intestinal disorders, high blood pressure and a host of other troubles than those who are well adjusted to their environment.

Thus, youngsters with only one parent often feel insecure and are too often candidates for several kinds of physical and nervous illness later in life. Even as children they may be irritable, unstable and perhaps lose weight as a result of insecurity.

This is a big problem today. Divorce is breaking up marriages much more often than it did in the past. When children are involved the husband and wife are not the only ones to consider.

Parents considering divorce should realize that the records of juvenile courts show that most crimes and misdemeanors are committed by youngsters coming from unhappy homes.

Today there is an increased awareness of the relationships between emotions and physical disorders. A stable, secure, healthy childhood affects the entire later life. Parents have the responsibility for doing the best they can in these early years.

Divorce is not the only thing that can go wrong. In many homes the parents are constantly quarreling in front of the children and this is bad for the youngsters, too.

I am arguing neither for nor against divorce. The law recognizes certain causes for divorce and, even from the standpoint of children, separation of parents may be better sometimes than constant exposure to quarreling and fighting. But children do not ask to be born and those who bring them into the world do have a responsibility to give them as good a start as possible.

One of the things they can do is not to deprive their children of the two parents to which they are entitled without compelling reasons. Marriage should not be entered into lightly by anyone who has the well-being of their unborn children at heart.

Students of marriage believe, too, that there are reasonably good ways of telling in advance whether a marriage is likely to lead to happiness and contentment.

This subject is a large one, only partly medical. However, it is clear, I think, that children from broken homes have special problems of adjustment. They need particularly intelligent attention from parents, schools, physicians and society.

Ruth Millett Says

A Woman Can't Explain How She Knows Certain Things

A woman can't explain to a man how she knows: Within a few dollars how much a woman paid for a dress without ever having seen the price tag.

That a woman's hair is not its natural color.

That a woman is lying about her age—even though a man would readily accept as fact the age she is going by.

That a married couple who are being extremely pleasant to each other in public nevertheless were having a fight before they left home.

That the living room a woman is taking credit for having put together was actually done by a high-priced decorator.

That a woman she has just met isn't to be trusted.

That a dress another woman is wearing was made by her own hands.

Just what ingredients went into the dressing on a restaurant salad. What every woman in a crowded room is wearing, without seeming to pay any particular attention.

What is being said in a conversation going on near her, even though she seems engrossed in the one she is in.

Whether a man is in love with his wife, even though she hardly knows the couple.

That two women who are being utterly charming to each other are actually at odds.

That the husband who has been pretending to listen to her hasn't heard a word she has been saying.

Women just seem to have a sixth sense that works in such subtle ways they can't explain it. They just know, that's all.

Viewing Hungry World

CARE Director Is Graphic In Story of Trip Abroad

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Sometimes a woman seems so neatly to fit her niche in life that it's impossible to imagine anyone else in her place.

That's what Olive Clapper, as Washington director of CARE, seems to some of the colleagues of her famous newspaper columnist husband, Raymond Clapper who died on the job in 1944.

Olive has just returned from some of the hungry parts of the world and now she is bursting with new evidence that CARE is still needed even in prosperous

West Germany "because of the thousands of refugees who every month cross the border from Communist-dominated countries."

The gray-haired widow, trim and modish in gray linen, seemed to all of the 25 or more of us at a "welcome back" luncheon "to be carrying on in a manner and for a cause worthy of her married name." It was obvious she tried to be non-political "but wasn't the re-election of Adenauer wonderful?" And she tries to be unemotional "because my son, Peter, (who was there, too) thinks I should deal only in facts." Yet she drew almost-tears from reporters, (supposedly as hard-boiled as a picnic egg) when she confessed she could not help embracing a certain 80 year old refugee woman who electrified a roomful of people by screaming "America, America."

Wisely, Mrs. Clapper left out the statistics (which were available in a news release) and spoke in terms of babies with the protruding malnutrition stomachs; of children who walk miles to school to get a meal-a-day from CARE; of the spindly mothers with milkless breasts; of homeless refugees seen everywhere she traveled.

In the Arab countries, she grew accustomed to ugly anti-American remarks. But in Libya, "where the 4th century meets the 20th," she saw mothers with babes in their arms walking miles to the CARE clinic on a hilltop. With a smile she cited as a sign of progress that "it's the law now for a man to have only three wives instead of four" and it's her belief "the Arab will never make a good Communist."

She saw "the stateless people of Greece sitting on the floor in barrack-like houses knitting inferior wool into a long scarf's for 50 cents."

Much unemployment was found on "beautiful Malta," where the harbors used to hum with British shipping industries. While every child gets one meal a day, thanks to CARE, the need is also great she said for CARE's self-help packages of plows, mechanics' tools, sewing machines and such.

In contrast with the desolation of many Arab lands, Mrs. Clapper found the "desert of Israel blossoming." And more astounding, many of the people she met "were calm about the nearby danger of Communist-inroads in Syria." A young Jewish CARE employee in Tel Aviv said she "was never going back to the United States where she was treated as a minority person because it is so wonderful to be with the majority."

She lost her heart to Warsaw, but the Polish government contract with CARE has yet to be implemented before CARE can invade with at least one meal-a-day for every hungry child.

Thus did Olive Clapper talk, with stunning sincerity, as the 1957 Holiday "Food Crusade" began. It isn't too early to send Christmas money-gifts which do not buy the government surplus food but does finance the packaging. For example a typical 22 pound parcel contains 5 lbs. of milk powder to make 20 quarts; 7 pounds of cheese; 5 pounds of flour and 5 pounds of corn meal; enough for a family of four for a month. This costs the American contributor $1 tax deductible. Contributions can be sent to Washington CARE office, 1028 Connecticut Avenue, Washington, D.C.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

A watch or a clock is an intricate mechanism. Its many wheels, bearings and tiny parts are fitted, balanced and synchronized. The watch runs with almost perfect consistency of action. This mechanical wonder was created by someone — not just any one, but by an artist who knew how to fit the parts into a unit which would keep accurate time.

There is a maker for everything. The more complex the action, and the greater the need is for consistency, the greater is the need for the maker to be one of ability, intelligence and integrity. Worldly mechanisms have been created by competent human beings but the eternal mechanisms of man and of the universe were created by One greater than man.

All living things are the creation of God. Man cannot duplicate them. We not only use God's creations but we also depend on their consistency and their continuance. God's process does not stop.

10 Fliers Presumed Dead After Crash In NATO Exercises

LONDON (AP)—U.S. Navy spokesmen say 10 fliers aboard four planes are presumed killed in two aerial collisions during NATO maneuvers in the North Atlantic.

The massive maneuvers of 100 warships and 700 planes were suspended immediately and ships and planes turned to a daylong search. Two bodies were recovered.

The four planes disappeared yesterday as ships and aircraft of seven NATO nations were operating between Iceland and Norway.

Two pilots were presumed killed in the collision of two F4D Sky Ray jet fighter planes from the U.S. carrier Saratoga.

Later the other two planes collided only five miles from the scene of the first accident. Involved in the second crash were two S2F Sentinel trackers each carrying two officers and two enlisted men from the aircraft carrier Essex.

One of the trackers was flying to aid in the search for survivors of the earlier collision.

DANVILLE, Va. (AP)—Willie Carter Perrow was sent to Danville city farm last week when he was unable to pay his fine on a charge of drunkenness.

He escaped Tuesday, went home and got some money, then went to the office of the justice of the peace to pay his fine.

He's now serving 90 days for escaping custody.

Graceful Loser

Twenty-one years ago a genial fellow with wispy hair, glasses and a twangy Middle-Western voice was going up and down the land in presidential combat.

While the battle was on he perhaps did not realize it, but it was one of the toughest uphill struggles ever undertaken by a presidential nominee.

He didn't come anywhere near the top. In fact, he took an unprecedented licking.

The man was Alfred M. Landon, then Republican governor of Kansas. His formidable adversary, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, crushed him by 27 million votes to 16 million. Landon captured but eight electoral votes—the total for Maine and Vermont.

But the vanquished Kansan never lost his sense of balance nor allowed himself to become engulfed in bitterness. He went on to many useful duties, keeping more and more out of the public eye as the years advanced.

Now he is 70. As one who managed his brief flight to the heights with decorum and sportsmanship, he deserves warm congratulations from us all.

Thought For Today

For all his days are sorrows, and his travail grief; yea, his heart taketh not rest in the night. This is also vanity.—Eccel. 2:23.

Looking Backward . .

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Dr. James Stewart, candidate for congressman at large, and Mrs. Stewart were here from Jefferson City to attend a Young Men's Republican Club banquet.
